

LIQUOR LICENSES

138 Applications Filed at the Police Board Office

The time for filing applications for liquor licenses expired at noon today and when the final paper had been turned over to Clerk John J. Flaherty of the board of police it was found that 138 applications had been filed, five of that number being special club licenses which do not count in the 106 to be granted.

A year ago 106 applications, including six clubs, were filed, showing that there were 32 more applications this year than last year.

Of the 138 applications filed, 81 were for first class or bar licenses, 40 for the fourth class or bottle licenses, 11 inholders, one brewery and five clubs.

It will be noticed in looking over the list that many applied for both first and fourth class licenses in different premises.

While the last day for filing is invariably a very busy day, many people waiting until the 11th hour to hand in their papers, this year the rush on the last day was unusually large and from the time the office was opened at 9 o'clock this morning until 12 o'clock when the door was closed Clerk Flaherty and Inspector Fox were up to their neck in business.

The bar and bottle bill was responsible for the delay in filing applications this year for after the bill which divided the first and fourth class licenses had passed the legislature the liquor dealers found that they had been asleep at the switch. Every legitimate effort was exerted to affect the repeal of the bill, but without avail.

Then a bill was introduced in the legislature which was known as the Doyle classification and which if passed would give the holder of a first class license the privilege of selling liquor up to the amount of five gallons. The liquor dealers withheld their applications until they learned the outcome of the bill. Monday afternoon the bill was killed in the legislature and the liquor men then knew that for at least a year they will have to stand for the bar and bottle bill which provides that a license of the first class (common victualler) allows the sale of liquors to be drunk on the premises and the fourth class (dealer) permits the sale of liquors not to be drunk on the premises.

Few applications had been filed up to Monday night and those who held off found that they had but two and a half days in order to file them.

The word "premises" was the bond of contention for a long time, many people being of the opinion that the word meant the entire building, but City Solicitor Duncan decided that, by stating that "premises" meant any portion of a building which was not connected with another part; therefore, if a building was large enough a dozen licenses might be granted in the building.

BUBBLING FOUNTAINS

Lands and Buildings Committee Saw Demonstration of Them

Fire Department Committee Inspected Fire Houses and Apparatus—Committee on Appropriations to Meet Tonight—State Inspector to Talk on Moth Extermination

The committee on lands and buildings met at city hall at 9 o'clock this forenoon and went to the Bartlett school to see a number of bubbling fountains in operation there. It was the first practical demonstration of bubble fountains to be given in this city and the committee arranged to get to the school at recess time to see the children use the fountains and to observe which of the fountains the children could tamper with the least.

Fire Department Committee

The committee on fire department met at city hall at 1 o'clock this afternoon and started in on a series of views covering the entire first district in this city. The committee went out in autos.

Committee on Streets

The committee on streets met at 2 o'clock and went out later to view a number of places mentioned in petitions for street improvements. The committee has a raft of petitions to consider and the most important ones will be the first to receive attention.

Appropriations Committee

The committee on appropriations will meet at 8 o'clock tonight and will hear State Inspector Howard L. Murphy on moth extermination. The park department has asked for more money for moth work and the committee members are anxious to hear from the state authorities as to the result of the work thus far. Besides listening to the state inspector the committee will have several other important matters to consider.

The petition for $5000 for two automobile ambulances for the charity department, and Councilman John Brad's order for Saturday half-holidays during June, July, August and September, for all city employees, will come up. The members of the charity board will attend the meeting.

Committee on Wires

The committee on wires met at city hall last night and considered numerous petitions for pole locations. Representatives were present from the Lowell Electric Light Co., the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co., and the street railway company. The numerous routine matters were gone over and before adjournment it was voted to make a tour of inspection of the proposed pole locations some day next week.

LAID AT REST

Remains of Michael McGlone Brought Here

A large number of well known residents of Lowell and Billerica attended the funeral of the late Michael McGlone, a former well known resident of North Billerica, which took place this morning from his late home, 13 Banks street, Cambridge. The remains were taken to St. Paul's church, where at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Buckley. The choir under the direction of Mr. George McConnell, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant. After the elevation Leybach's beautiful "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Hugh Walker, soprano soloist at the Immaculate Conception church, this city, and a relative of the deceased. The bearers were Messrs. Charles P. Smith, Martin H. Reidy, Michael J. Reidy of this city, and Chief of Police Martin Conway of North Billerica, all relatives of the deceased. The remains were then conveyed to Lowell on the 12:07 train and the interment took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers at the grave were read by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church. The interment was in charge of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

To Repair Damage Caused by Fire in Albany

THE CORAM HOME

Not to be Used as Orphanage

The beautiful home formerly owned and occupied by Mr. Chester Coram in Pine street has been sold to Charles Leonard a Boston auctioneer; and not to St. Peter's parish as has been reported.

Rumors had it that the beautiful home which is known as the Coram mansion had been purchased by Rev. Dr. Kelcher for an orphanage, but the Rev. Father when asked by a Sun reporter this morning denied the report, and later it was found that a Boston auctioneer by the name of Charles Leonard was the real purchaser.

BANK DIRECTORS RESIGN
GREENFIELD, March 30.—The resignation of Levi Gunn and Robert Abercrombie as directors of the Franklin county national bank is announced. Bank Commissioner Arthur Chapin last week began suit against Messrs. Gunn, Abercrombie and other former trustees of the Greenfield savings bank to recover funds known to have been taken up by loans. The savings bank suspended two years ago.

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when medicine is so much needed as in the spring. The blood is impure and impoverished—a condition indicated by pimples, boils and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—The work of rehabilitating the fire-swept state capitol, begun yesterday while the flames were still crackling in the western wing, was continued today with increased vigor. First efforts were directed to drying out the portions of the great building untouched by the fire but thoroughly sooty by the tons of water poured on the conflagration. Today the legislative leaders were expected to confer with Governor Dix and State Architect Ware, regarding the appropriation necessary to repair the building. The state architect has recommended that the legislature authorize immediately the preparation of plans for rebuilding the ruined third and fourth floors in the west end. This interior to meet the demands of offices that will occupy the quarters from which fire drove the education department. For this department building is in course of construction. Unofficial estimates place the cost of re-construction, close to $4,000,000. It is said that an appropriation of this size would practically wipe out the estimated surplus remaining in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal year. The state cannot afford itself for this rebuilding and the money must be taken directly from the treasury.

At present the whole building, except the offices on the east front, is as damp as an underground cell. A large part of the paper mache ceiling in the assembly chamber will have to be removed. Before they can be used again, the members' desks will have to be refinished and it may be necessary to purchase a new outfit of interior assembly room furnishings.

The first inspection after the smoke cleared away convinced the state architect that the remaining walls of the southwestern cupola were unsafe, and the occupants of houses on the opposite side of State street have been directed to vacate until the walls are pulled down or shored safely in place. Present indications are that there will be no investigation of the cause of the fire.

Other reforms besides improved electrical wiring, suggested in connection with the rehabilitation of the building are a supply of chemical extinguishers in all offices and corridors and the removal of inflammable records, which have accumulated in other parts of the structure almost as heavily as books and pamphlets and piled on the wooden shelves of the ruined state library. The men who discovered the fire yesterday morning say that they could have put it out easily if they had a few pails of water.

Lawyer Rogers Today Filed His Answer as Ordered by Court

The Only Question to be Settled is One of Costs and This the Court Will Undoubtedly Decide

John Jacob Rogers went to Boston today to file his answer in the mandamus proceedings having to do with the holding of a joint convention by the city council.

John W. McEvoy, representing the petitioners for the writ of mandamus, Thomas J. Corbett et al vs. Andrew E. Barrett et al.

Answer of respondents George H. Allard, Jr., Robert S. Fulton, Harry C. Taylor, Adelard Berard, Albert G. Cheney, William T. Davis, Henry Achin, Jr., Charles A. Delaroude, Charles B. Rogers, Thomas Chadwick, Arthur Genest, Joseph W. Powers, Herbert E. Elliott, Orris B. Handell, 2nd, Herbert L. Chapman, John Jacob Rogers and Harry H. Whittet, to petition for writ of mandamus.

And now come the respondents George H. Allard, Jr., Robert S. Fulton, Harry C. Taylor, Adelard Berard, Albert G. Cheney, William T. Davis, Henry Achin, Jr., Charles A. Delaroude, Charles B. Rogers, Thomas Chadwick, Arthur Genest, Joseph W. Powers, Herbert E. Elliott, Orris B. Handell, 2nd, Herbert L. Chapman, John Jacob Rogers and Harry H. Whittet in the above-entitled action, and for answer say—

1. That they are the seventeen respondents members of the Common Council of the City of Lowell and constitute a majority thereof.

2. That the charter of said City of Lowell provides that the City Council thereof, consisting of the Board of Aldermen and said Common Council, shall meet in convention as soon as may be convenient after its organization (which for the current year occurred January 2, 1911), and elect by joint ballot a City Clerk and a City Treasurer and Collector of Taxes;

3. That said Board of Aldermen and said Common Council met in convention as required by said charter, on the evening of March 25, 1911, and performed all the acts required so to be performed by it in convention, namely, the election of a City Clerk and a City Treasurer and Collector of Taxes for the current year.

4. Wherefore, said respondents pray that the petition may be denied and that they be allowed their costs.

By their Attorney,

JOHN JACOB ROGERS.

Question of Costs.

Lawyer John W. McEvoy, who brought the mandamus proceedings, will ask the court to assess the costs for the petitioners. Now that the object of the proceedings has been accomplished by the holding of the joint convention, the petition will be dismissed and the only question for the court to settle is that of the costs.

Informer Cross-Examined at the Trial of the Camorrist

VITERBO, Italy, March 30.—Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, was cross-examined at today's sitting of the court of the assizes which is trying the 36 camorristi for the murder of their associates, Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife.

Most of the questions asked by President Bianchi and the lawyers for the defense concerned matters of secondary importance and were intended to impeach the informer. The latter stood the ordeal very well, making many admissions concerning his own evil career, but clinging tenaciously to the story of camorristi crimes which he originally told to the police inspector, Marshal Capezzuti, and later submitted in the form of an affidavit to the court.

Lawyer Torre, of counsel for the defense, today received an anonymous letter in which the writer attempted to prove that which has before been asserted by the other prisoners that the carabinieri who ran down the camorristi had manufactured the Cuocolo ring evidence. According to the police, the ring had been taken from the hand of Cuocolo to be sent to Luigi Arena, in proof of the death of the man whom Arena had denounced as a traitor to the camorristi. The carabinieri swore that they found this ring at the home of a woman companion of the assassins.

As proof that this evidence was fabricated, the writer of the letter states that Littilio, a carabinieri, being offended, boxed the ears of his superior officer, whereupon instead of being court-martialed, he was sent to a hospital, as he had threatened that if he were punished he would reveal the duplicity of the officers of the carabinieri. Subsequently, the letter states, Littilio was declared insane and removed from the army.

FANCY DANCING

Reception Given by Miss Ockington

A pleasant time was enjoyed in Associate hall last evening by the large number of guests who attend the reception given by Miss Ockington. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion while the stage was covered with palms and ferns.

The program consisted of fancy and general dancing by the pupils till the intermission, which was followed by general dancing by the guests. The fancy dances were extremely delightful, and naturally the feature of the evening.

The march was led by Master Theodore Currier, Miss Eleanor Midwood, Master Allan Adams and Miss Isabel Whitman, with charming grace and aplomb. The first special dance on the program was a minuet, danced by waltz-maids in Watteau shepherdess dress and tiny courtiers in knee breeches and powdered wigs. The little dancers of the minuet were:

Master Almworth-Isheward, Miss Freda Atkinson, Master Leon Pickard, Miss Evelyn Atkinson, Master Morris

Pickard, Miss Mildred Bean, Master Allan Adams, Miss Isabel Whitman. A scarf dance was the next number, those taking part being Miss Dorothy Bean, Miss Mildred Fay, Miss Gladys Hill, Miss Beatrice Qua, Miss Hattie Chase and Miss Esther Whitman.

Miss Hazel Channerian and Miss Mildred Tinker danced the "Dutch Kiddie," while "La Manola" was rendered by Mildred Bean and Celia Craven. The final number a "patriotic medley" was danced by Miss Esther Mulgrave.

The whole ensemble was remarkably well rendered and great credit is due Mrs. Ockington and her pupils. The scarf dance was a delightful number and greatly pleased. The "Dutch Kiddies" was one of the cleverest pieces of the evening. The dancers wore characteristic dresses and clowned, wooden shoes, and the fact that they danced with such heavy steps made the act accomplished all the more pleasurable.

The "Kiddie" had to respond to an encore. "La Manola," a Spanish dance, made a decided hit, and the dancers performed with such grace and abandon that real daughters of Spain would have envied them.

Miss Mulgrave in her "patriotic medley" was very charming as she waved the American flag and danced to many varied American airs.

Practically all of the little performers were showered with beautiful flowers. The music for the evening was furnished by the American orchestra with Miss Edith Andrews at the piano. The officers of the evening were:

The council failed to agree on the selection of a president until shortly before the holding of the joint convention, so that the case cited by Mr. Dadman was in no way similar to the one that he was asked to pass upon.

The men who were interested in politics at that time will readily recall the joint convention in question. It was an all night affair and there was something doing every minute.

Among the sensations of the evening was a row between a republican alderman and a republican councilman. The councilman accused the alderman of a crooked play and later the he was passed. The record of the affair, however, does not say that the ambulance was summoned.

The ballot for city clerk at this convention was as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 26; Gérard P. Dadman 17, Michael J. Dowd 9. Mr. Dadman was declared elected and has held office ever since.

Diaz's reply was that he refused the proposition. Now Ferris has written to General Orozco, one of the leaders of the revolutionaries, telling him that it is the intention of American citizens to occupy Lower California peacefully if possible, forcibly if otherwise. The object for this scheme as stated by Ferris himself is primarily to give the world a new republic and later turn it over to the United States.

MINOR LEAGUE

Low Scores Marked the Games

Low scores marked the game between the Willows and Rocklands of the Minor league last night, neither team being able to reach the 1400 mark. The Rocklands won two of the three points but lost the total by three points. Cole of the Willows with a triple of 300 was high man.

In the Moody Bridge league series the Lesters won two points from the Perron Juniors but lost the total pinfall. Head of the Perron Juniors was high man.

For a Memorial to Massachusetts Soldiers

SPRINGFIELD, March 30.—Fifty years after the opening of the great struggle between south and north, the members of the A. P. Hill camp of Confederate veterans of Petersburg, Va., have given to Massachusetts, the state which first bitterly opposed secession, a plot of ground near the city for the erection of a monument to the Massachusetts soldiers who fell in front of Petersburg. A. P. Hill camp was entertained in Springfield last summer by E. K. Wilcox post, Grand Army of the Republic.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kinch are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their home in Church street.

The many friends of Miss Marion Scribner will be glad to learn that she is recovering from her illness.

The public schools close tomorrow afternoon for the regular two weeks' spring vacation. Exercises will be held in each of the rooms tomorrow afternoon.

The site for the memorial belonged to Crater farm and is about 60 feet square, situated at the corner of the Jerusalem road and Crater lane and about 300 yards from the farm itself.

At Bible Ter-Centenary Celebration in London

C. Perham

Learning of the reported plan of the Mexican insurgents, which is to seize Lower California, Dick Ferris, manager of the Panama-Pacific road race, who says he is at the head of 100 representative American citizens, wrote to President Diaz of Mexico asking him if he would receive a representative of the 100 and arrange to have the piece of land which the rebels are seeking turned over to them. The purpose of this movement, quoting the dispatch to Diaz, is to "establish a worthy, a more appropriate, a more splendid monument of this centenary year than that it should witness

the sealing of a solemn pact between

all the hideous and unthinkable possibilities of fraternal strife."

Ferris interfered with the proceedings, and when the prime minister began they unfurled banners bearing the inscription "Votes for Women." The banners were torn up after a free flight.

Mr. Asquith said:

"The English bible belongs not only to the subjects of King George, but to the whole English speaking world. One of the truths which has been slowly realized, and which now I believe is firmly rooted in the faith of Christian men and women on both sides of the Atlantic, is that war between English speaking people would not only be a crime against civilization but an unforgivable breach of these new commandments which are enshrined in the New Testament on which both nations have been bred."

"There surely could not be a more worthy, a more appropriate, a more splendid monument of this centenary year than that it should witness

the sealing of a solemn pact between

all the hideous and unthinkable possibilities of fraternal strife."

Speaking of how the little furnished the most indestructible bond for present political unity in the aims and as-

SUDDEN END

To Case Against Mining Company

CONCORD, March 30.—The trial of the promoters of the Oxford Gold Mining company was continued yesterday morning in the United States district court and came to a sudden termination at the opening of the afternoon session, shortly after 3 o'clock.

The witness during the morning session had been Inspector Spofford of the postoffice department and this gentleman was preparing to take the stand again this afternoon, when the defendants withdrew the plea of not guilty which had been entered in their behalf, and through their attorneys entered a plea of nolo, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court.

The court ordered that Len Richard pay a fine of $200; that John A. Delsite pay a fine of $100; and that Theodore Boudreau pay a fine of $2000 and be imprisoned for six months in the Hillsborough county jail at Manchester. The first two defendants paid their respective fines and were discharged from the custody of the court. Boudreau was committed.

The prosecution was conducted by United States District Attorney Holt of Nashua. In answer to questions from the postoffice Inspector Mr. Boudreau, one of the prisoners, said that the Oxford company six years ago bought 240 acres of mining land in Houghton, Me., for $1200. This land was sold to the company by Mr. Boudreau and Mr. Delsite and the company organized with 300,000 shares at a par value of $1. Half of these were taken over by the promoters and the other 150,000 were put on sale to the public.

Mr. Boudreau testified that the company sold 131,774 shares at different prices. The sale started at ten cents a share and 6250 shares were sold. In September, 1905, the price went to twenty cents and 16,748 were sold. In December of the same year the stock rose to twenty-five cents, and 14,305 went off at fifty cents. Three years ago par was reached and 50,326 were disposed of. In 1909 stock doubled to $2 and 7607 shares were sold. In December of the same year the price went to $3 with a sale of 3000 shares. The trial lasted all day Tuesday until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Judge Aldrich presided.

A number of shares of the Oxford Gold Mining company have been sold in Lowell.

BOSTON, March 30.—The future of the Slater mills at Webster, Mass., now depends on the action of the supreme court, which today heard arguments on exceptions to a decree directing the trustees to sell the mills in accordance with the provisions of the will of Horatio Slater. Mrs. Slater, the widow, according to her counsel, Sherman L. Whipple, wants the business for the benefit of her two sons, so that when they become of age they can engage in manufacturing and keep up the traditions of the Slater name in the industrial world.

SLATER MILLS HANGED FOR MURDER

Man Joked of Death Up to the Very End

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 30.—A remarkable display of nerve was made in the county jail yard here today by Joseph Christok, who was hanged for the murder last fall of Mrs. Ann Riehards. Declining the proffered assistance of a priest and deputy sheriff, the man walked smilingly from his cell to the foot of the gallows and ran lightly up the steps. It was a public hanging and before him stood 1500 persons, to whom he waved his hand. Then he reached up, grasped the fatal noose and placed it around his neck, put his arms by his side to be strapped and smilingly said, "Good bye, all." The man then held his head in position for the adjustment of the black cap and in another moment the trap was sprung. He was pronounced dead in twelve minutes. Before going to the gallows Christok made a complete confession, declaring he had shot the woman when he was detected by her attempting to mistreat her daughter. He told of numerous highway robberies and burglaries he had committed in the neighborhood and wound up his confession by saying that he deserved to be hanged for his crimes. He joked of death to the very end.

BOSTON, March 30.—Some uneasiness is felt for the Boston schooner J. M. Haynes, which is 30 days out from Brunswick, Ga., to this port, a trip which usually requires from a week to ten days. The Haynes is a staunch three-master and has always been a good sea boat. She loaded a cargo of yellow pine at Brunswick. The schooner was last reported by Captain Watts of the schooner White Child of Thompson, Me., who sighted her off Cape Henry during a northwest gale on

NEW YORK, March 30.—Arrangements for a funeral demonstration in which 150,000 sympathizers will be asked to join, the identification of four more bodies, leaving only 16 now unnamed, the swelling of the relief fund to nearly $50,000 and the continued effort by the district attorney's office and the fire marshal to fix the blame, were yesterday's activities which followed Saturday's fire horror.

It is proposed to draw the bodies of most of the 143 victims through the streets of the city on Monday in a great funeral procession headed by a chorus of 70 singers from the Jewish choristers' union, followed by the 600 surviving employees of the Triangle waist company and as many sympathizing workers as can be induced to join.

The United cloak makers' union has asked that all its 70,000 members march in the procession, and according to the proposal made to the police today a line of 150,000 can easily be formed if the authorities will permit Jewish victims will be buried in Mt. Sinai cemetery, the few Italians and others elsewhere.

Thirty women were removed late last night from a memorial mass meeting for the victims of the Washington place fire in Grand Central palace, suffering from hysteria to such extent that ambulance surgeons were called to attend them and to remove some to the hospital. More than 3000 persons were at the meeting, mostly women, whose nerves were straining by the recall which some of the speakers made of Saturday's fire horror. The meeting was under direction of the shirtwaist and dressmakers' union.

Twenty-five survivors told their stories of the catastrophe to assistants in the district attorney's office today and the others appeared before the "Quarter Day."

AVIATION RACE

BIG EVENT WILL HAVE TO BE ABANDONED

BERLIN, March 30.—The projected international aviation race between Paris, Berlin and London will be abandoned owing to the attitude of the Paris Journal, one of the papers contributing to the prizes, yielding to the French agitation against flights in Germany. The Berliner Mittag Zeitung will apply the $25,000, which it offered for the event, to another contest.

Open an account in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank, April 1st, is Marshal William L. Beers. A number of employees testified at the district attorney's office to the heroism of Fannie Langner, who hurried scores of girls from the eighth floor to the elevator and superintended crowding them into the car again and again she went into the smoke-filled cutting rooms and brought out girls. Finally she fell exhausted and perished.

Louis Senderman, an assistant shipping clerk of the Triangle waist company, testified that when the alarm was given he ran to one of the stand pipes on the eighth floor, unrolled the hose and opened the valve. No water flowed, and he realized that he was helpless to check the flames. Not only was there no water in the standpipes but the hose was rotten, he testified.

The factory girls who testified yesterday were unanimous in their statements that the exit doors were not locked, but opened inward.

Representative Stevens of Dracut under the small towns act, has secured an additional appropriation for the completion of the state highway on Lakeview avenue in Dracut. Last year he secured a similar amount from the highway commission for the same purpose. The selectmen of Dracut have appeared with Rep. Stevens before the highway commission twice this year in behalf of the additional appropriation which finally has been awarded. There are many people who up to this time were not aware of the fact that any part of Lakeview avenue was a state highway but it appears that last year's appropriation was used to put in a stretch of state highway from the city line in Lakeview avenue near the city residence to Pleasant street, and it is probably the intention to continue the work from Pleasant street. At the recent town meeting it was voted to appropriate $2000 for the continuation of this work on condition that the state would appropriate a similar amount. The state highway commission having made good, the total appropriation will be $4000. Lakeview avenue is a bad stretch of road in that vicinity and the improvement will be generally appreciated.

Another petition was filed by Representative George H. Stevens and others, asking the county commissioners to alter and improve the Mammoth road between the Lowell and Pelham lines. Should the commissioners concede to do a portion of the work on the Mammoth road this year as did the state highway commissioners in making an allotment for the work in Lakeview avenue, the movement for the establishing of good roads locally will have

OUTLOOK FOR THE TWO BIG LEAGUE PENNANT RACES

BY TOMMY CLARK.

OPP on the pennant winners in the two big baseball leagues is now being peddled out with green trading stamps to any one who will take them. Every bug in the country has tabooed politics, the Canadian reciprocity agreement and the Mexican comic opera war to discuss the qualifications of the minor league recruits and what chances the veterans have to "come back" this season. He will assure you that his selections have the elusive gonfalon nailed to the flagstaff in the home park.

Financiers, brokers, doctors and men of all trades and professions are mingling the names of Matty, Brown, Cobb, Wagner, Lajoie and Bender and other celebrities in business discussions. The youth of the country is staying up nights figuring out the number of "grandmothers" and other near relatives that can be sacrificed during the coming season before the boss gets wise. All because the baseball season is at hand.

While pennants are won at this time of the year, many experts in different cities are practically asserting that their major league representatives are likely to land the championship honors. In New York there is a spirit of confidence that both major league teams—the Giants and Highlanders—will be right up at the top when all returns are in. Supporters of the chesty Chicago Cubs think they will be able to come back and annex their fifth championship in six years, while in Detroit the bugs have a hunch that Hugh Jennings and the Tigers will claw the other teams to pieces and bring home another flag. Philadelphia fans are so confident that the Athletics will repeat that they are thinking of ordering the pennant now. Pittsburghers feel certain that Fred Clarke's Buccaneers will surely be there at the finish.

Casting aside local prejudice and getting down to real dope, we find that in the National league the fight for the much coveted flag will be a four-cornered affair and the scrap in the American league a paradise for one team with a grand fight for second position.

In many quarters the Giants at present are the favorites for the National league banner, for the team came strong at the finish of the 1910 campaign and played a good article of ball. Should anything happen to Mathewson, however, the experts who are now picking New York to finish at the top would immediately select third place as the team's probable position in the race at the wind up.

The reason the Giants are picked as the strongest competitors for the flag are these:

The club has a great manager in John McGraw, who always insists that he be the sole boss of the athletes and invariably sees to it that the players are satisfied with their salaries.

The club has one of the greatest pitchers in the country in Mathewson, one of the fastest and craftiest base runners in Devore, one of the best hitting backstops in Myers, one of the best fighting type of ball tossers in Captain Dooin and a whole raft of good seasoned material and lots of promising youngsters.

The Giants undoubtedly can hit, and if their pitchers do what is expected of them and get better support than they got last year it will be a hard matter for the Cubs and the Pirates to keep up to the whirlwind pace that will be set by McGraw's men.

The Chicago Cubs cannot be tagged an "has-been" simply because in the world's series last fall they fell before crafty Connie Mack's better trained and better behaved White Elephants. The P. L.'s charges ought always to be feared and often have shown remarkable recuperative abilities. Chance's men, thinking more about gold cuff buttons than sox (of the white kind), were decisively trounced in the world's series of 1906. They came back next year and set a record in victories for the National league. Apparently down

MURPHY AN IDEAL CLUB OWNER, SAYS CHANCE.

"Charley Murphy is the ideal club owner," says Manager Chance.

"Murphy never meddles with the team and allows me to run things with unhampered authority. He doesn't blame this or that man for losing a game and never noses around looking after trouble. He doesn't care whether the players like him or not. He pays salaries for ball playing and allows me to decide whether the money is earned or not. Sentiment cuts no figure with him, and whatever I may suggest to benefit the team you can rest assured that Murphy will O. K. it."

and out in September, 1908, the Chicagoans nevertheless fought on and through a blunder had a chance to play off the tie game of Sept. 23. On hostile territory, surrounded by few friends, they won the game that gave them another championship.

In 1909, without Killing, the club finished second in the National league pennant pursuit, and with Johnny last season they won the championship.

As in 1908, the peerless leader's employees won the highest honors of the baseball world before the series was played, the consequence being that they got a trimming that removed much of their chestiness and probably will do them a world of good. Ware the Cubs. They flourished along last season with a set of pitchers who did not do nearly as good work as in former years, but after July 4 the team was able to take things easily.

The Pirates' have a good chance of being right in the thick of the scrum for the pennant. Last season there was discord in the ranks of the Buccaneers. Wagner and Miller did not play up to their 1909 form, and Pitcher Caminitz, according to accounts, looked more than once on the wine when it was red. Fred Clarke is an abu-leader, Wagner and Miller are in great shape to win back their departed laurels, and Caminitz has promised to climb on the water wagon.

Brooklyn is the dark horse of the race this season. Bill Dahmen has one of the best teams that has represented the City of Churches in years. A ragged infield kept the team down in 1910, but it has been strengthened and will make things very warm for the other clubs. Philadelphia will make a better showing than last season. Manager Dooin made some trades that greatly benefited the club. Roger Bresnan and his band of St. Louis diamond warriors will stir up things also. The Cardinals have one of the best infiels in the league and a strong catching department and a fair outfield. The only weak place is the twirling staff. Bresnan has landed some promising talent since last season which may help out. Boston is the one best bet to land last in any man's opinion. The club will be lucky to win as many games as the St. Louis Browns did last year. Tenny has a few pitchers, and that's all.

The most improved team on paper is the Cincinnati Reds. Clarke Griffith put through several good trades last season which will bolster up the team and make it formidable this season. The outfield is the best in either league. The catching department is strong, and the only weak spot in the infield is at shortstop. It is the best base running and most dangerous hitting club in the game.

American League.

In the American league it will be a hard thing to keep the Athletics from repeating. Connie Mack bosses a great pitching staff. He has Bender, Coombs, Russell, the high priced southpaw; Plank, Morgan, Krause and several promising youngsters.

Three-fourths of Mack's infield is of the kid variety, and if Harry Davis is unable to play first base to his manager's satisfaction Ben House will be able to jump up and replace the popular field leader of the Athletics. There is nothing the matter with the Philadelphia suburbanites, though Hartsel and Murphy are aging. The Athletics are the first choice for the American league flag.

Trying to pick places for the other teams is a hard task. Perhaps after the season is two months old there will be clubs standing out from others, but just now it looks as if there will be a hard fight among at least three of them. On past performances New York, Detroit and Boston will be given the preference, but there are many who believe that Cleveland and Chicago are slated to finish among the select four simply because those teams apparently have been greatly strengthened. But, of course, this additional strength appears on paper, and not until the teams all get in action can there be a reliable line on their comparative strength.

No one believes that Washington can hope to break into the first division, and yet, should McAleer be fortunate enough to add a good ball player or two out of the lot of material he has on hand the Senators may prove the real surprise of the year.

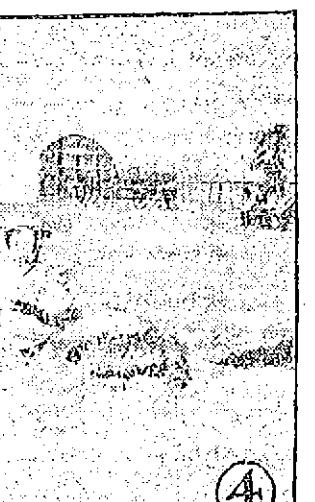

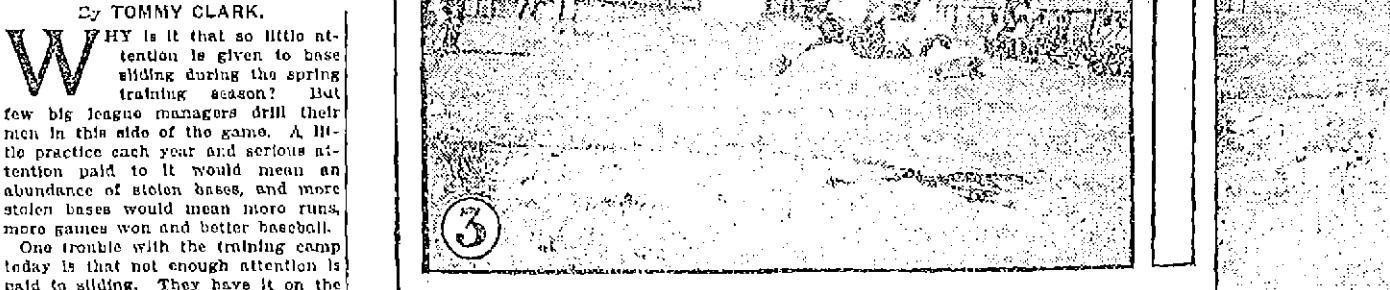

St. Louis looks better than it did last season, but will have a hard fight getting rid of the cellar championship. Bob Wallace as manager is an experiment.

Although the Detroit Tigers fell by the wayside last year, the team is still strong enough to give other clubs a tough tussle for second place. The pitching department is still weak, although Jennings has several youngsters who may turn out well. Boston will miss Jake Stahl, McConnell and Harry Lord. New York appears very strong. The club has good hitters and great pitchers and is apparently well fortified in all departments, but will be in the hands of a new pilot. Chase is a great ball player, but he has yet to prove he is a capable manager. Say what you will of George Stallings, there is no question of his ability as a leader. He did wonders with the New York outfit, but has never been given the credit due him. Chase may be his superior, but he must show it. And even if Chase proves himself capable it is extremely doubtful if he has a strong enough team to push the Athletics all the way.

MANAGER OF CHICAGO CUBS AND SEVERAL IMPORTANT COGS IN HIS BASEBALL MACHINE.

Managers and Winning Combinations

Few baseball managers will trifling with a winning combination. Some are superstitious; others are not. Yet nearly all of them believe in the axiom, "Lewell enough alone."

After Frank Chance developed a winning combination out of the Cubs he refused to tinker with the combination, and this Cub combination won four National League championships, competed in four world's series—losing two of them and winning two at the expense of the Tigers—and won 60 National League championship games, a feat that has never been duplicated in five years.

Radical changes may be made in the team this season. Chance may consider his winning combination shattered since the world's series rout, but he refused to meddle when the club was going well.

Some one propounded this question to Connie Mack, manager of the world's champions, the other day: "Why don't you make an outfielder out of Baker and play McInnes at third?"

"For one particular reason," replied the elongated manager. "I have a winning infield combination, and I wouldn't think of tampering with it. It took me some years to get this infield together, and I am going to think a while while before breaking it up."

Which leaves it for granted that Davis at first, Collins at second, Barry at short and Baker at third are 1911 fixtures. It is the best infield in the business.

Good Pitching Is a Big Help

One reason why the Cubs' pitchers were so easy for the Athletics in the world's series last fall was attributed to the fact that Mack's men had been facing Walter Johnson and Ed Walsh in the all star series, and a sledge of this sort of pitching trained their eyes so that an ordinary pitcher did not have a chance to fool them. There appears to be a lot of logic in this explanation, and if there is there is no reason why a similar system should not be employed during the regular training season.

During the batting practice which every team indulges in once or twice a day it is customary to use some pitcher who is not quite good enough to work regularly in a game. He may not even let himself out in practice, and the result is that after facing this sort of pitching for an hour or so the players find it a difficult matter to hit the real thing when they face it in a game. Batting practice must be absolutely useless unless the pitcher working puts everything he has on the ball and works as hard as if he were in a championship game.

It might, for instance, be of great value to the team's hitting if whenever it was possible Walter Johnson was allowed to pitch to his teammates just before going into a game. Say that he worked ten minutes at top speed. This would surely put the batters on edge and make it possible for them to hit ordinary pitching easily.

MANAGER OF THE WORLD'S CHAMPIONS AND SOME OF HIS GREAT DIAMOND WARRIORS.

By TOMMY CLARK.

WHY is it that so little attention is given to base sliding during the spring training season? But few big league managers drill their men in this side of the game. A little practice each year and serious attention paid to it would mean an abundance of stolen bases, and more stolen bases would mean more runs, more games won and better baseball.

One trouble with the training camp today is that not enough attention is paid to sliding. They have it on the training program, and they fix up the little sand piles and do little stunts with as little effort as possible and hope around and scatter as soon as they can. They do that each training season. Players look on that part of the work with malice and hatred. It would please them to have all reference to sliding eliminated.

But sliding should be just as important as bunting practice. At least half an hour each day should be devoted to sliding practice.

Nearly any one can slide feet or head foremost, but how many can throw themselves to the right or left, can twist themselves to the right or left, can twist themselves or catch themselves in a manner to evade the fielder clutching the ball? You would be surprised to discover the scarcity of them by watching their work in just one of these practices.

Now, sliding in baseball—that is, the real art of sliding—is just about as "deep" a thing as trapoz work in a circus. There is a whole lot to it, feint, "and tain't everybody what kin do it."

The few who can slide are quickly discovered in the practice during the springtime—they are generally known to exist beforehand—and rarely does the list fail to stop with the limited number. In other words, few players learn the finer points of the art of sliding.

Hugh Jennings of Detroit is a great believer in teaching men how to slide to the bases. On the Tiger team there are two men—Bush and Cobb—who are well versed in the finer points of sliding.

For two years Jennings has tried to produce a few more of their type out of the ranks of his recruits and veterans. The veterans are too old to learn, while the recruits either lack heart or lack ambition, for it requires much nerve and vast energy to become acquainted with the "inside dope" on sliding.

Cobb and Bush have both served as examples for young and those not so young. Little has ever come of it. Bush became expert in elusive sliding by continued practice and the spending of energy and effort. So did Cobb. When Bush started out he was an awkward base runner and inexperienced in sliding. He was furthermore of the sort the average man points to and remarks that "he'll never learn." Bush learned. "Twas a tough job, but Bush made that grade. Johnny McGraw is another manager who believes in having youngsters practice base sliding. During the spring training McGraw had his men out nearly every afternoon teaching them the different slides. How they fare out this season will be answered definitely after the campaign closes.

PITCHERS EXPERIMENTING WITH NEW CURVES

Several big league pitchers are experimenting with the "forked ball." The delivery is said to rival the famous "splitter." Only twirlers with large hands can control the new curve. The ball is held between the index and second finger. This position gives to it the name "forked ball." The ball is said to break something on the style of the "splitter," but drops quicker and shoots more to one side. None of the pitchers has succeeded in mastering it as yet to the degree of perfect control, but that credence is given to the story is proved by the number who are trying to.

Picture No. 1 shows Josh Devore practicing a straight slide; No. 2, the fade-away; No. 3, the aviator; No. 4, the hook; No. 5, another view of the hook.

TEAM LOOKS GOOD

Textile School Will Have Strong Nine

Coach D. F. McMahon of the Textile school baseball team states that he is going to have some team this season and he ought to know. He is a player of wide experience and a successful coach with a specialty of turning out easy hitters.

The season will open April 8, with Dodge Manual Training school, on the local campus. The rest of the schedule is as follows: April 12, Gardner High at Lowell; April 15, Lawrence Academy at Groton; April 19, Boston University at Lowell; April 22, Gardner High at Gardner; April 26, M. I. T. 1913 at Lowell; April 29, St. Michaels at Manchester; May 6, Lawrence Academy at Lowell; May 10, Curtis Rd. at Lowell; April 18, Exeter at Exeter.

Joseph E. Thaxter '11, who caught last year, has been elected captain and will go behind the bat. Two other candidates for this position are S. Pinski '13, who caught on the Volkman school team, and Jack Frost, formerly with the Somerville High. Among the candidates for pitcher, the most likely is Aspinwall '13, who played on the Brown University nine last year. A. J. Dav '12, who played the outside last year, will try his hand in the box. He is a southpaw and so is Davieau, a likely looking freshman.

Johnson '13, of Beloit college, and Clark '12, of Plymouth, are out for first base. Niven '12, who played in the outfield last year, will probably cover the second bag, although Dalton '12 and Ware '12 are giving him a close run for the position. Ford '11, of Lawrence will most likely be seen at shortstop, as he seems to have the call so far. F. T. Phillips '11, last year's star third-sacker, will again play that position. This corner is sure to be well looked after, as he has no superior on any of the Eastern college teams.

There is a large amount of outfield material to draw from in Jefferson '11, a veteran of two years; Cleary '13, a star who played on the Boston English High team; Waterhouse '13, of Providence; Mints '13, of Georgia; Benett '13, of Hartford; Peck '13, of New Haven; Shedd '13, of Malden; O'Brien '13, of Boston, and Hatcheller '13, of Worcester.

Money deposited this week in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest Saturday.

IN THE CHURCHES

Two weeks ago the pastor of the First Baptist church had slips distributed to the members of the congregation, that they might write thereon, what they considered the greatest temptation threatening the welfare of young men of the present day. The temptations regarded by the majority as the greatest dangers were selected by Mr. Cummings as topics for a series of sermons entitled "Picture in the Lives of Young Men of Lowell." Mr. Cummings stated on Sunday that enough subjects had been handed in to keep the minister's pen busy for a year's sermons. It may be interesting to know the list of subjects. "Intemperance and the Saloon," led by a large majority. There were many other "pitfalls" suggested which were of value to minister in his effort to deal with the actual problems facing some of his hearers.

Worthington Street Church
The members of the Epworth League of the Worthington Street M. E. church surprised their pastor, Rev. J. W. Stephan at his home last night and presented him a handsome watch chain and charm, also a gold piece. Mr. Harry Law made the presentation speech to which Mr. Stephan responded. Refreshments were served and a delightful time was enjoyed.

First Baptist Church

The concert which was so successfully given by the young people of the First Baptist church, on March 8, was repeated in the vestry last night before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. John C. McElroy had general charge and the exceptional manner in which it was carried out reflected creditably on the director.

Those who contributed to the evening's enjoyment were Miss Ella Thompson in songs; Mr. Horatio Lewis, Legin, songs; Mr. William Carr, whistling; Miss Ethel Trueworthy, readings; and Mr. McElroy, songs.

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

Will Appear at Merrimack Square Sunday

Just as a compliment to his old friend Manager Carroll of the Merrimack Square theatre, Johnnie Quigley, once known as America's Newsboy tenor but now head of the John J. Quigley booking agency, will come to Lowell next Sunday and appear at all the performances at the Merrimack Square theatre in a budget of songs and repeat his success of a few years ago.

Years ago, not many but some, Johnnie Quigley was a newsboy in South Boston and newsboy in South Boston. In those days were some kids. Johnnie could sing from the time he was able to talk out of a cradle and from his earliest years he had a love of music and an inborn knowledge of it. When he attended school his voice always attracted the attention of his teachers and he did all the solo stunts, to the envy of the other kids. Among the newsboys he was regarded as a little tin god, for when the bunch were broken Johnnie would be sent into some public place to tear off a song while the bunch would pass the hats and all would divide. On Sundays the bunch having held out, the price of steamboat tickets to Nantasket would take an early boat to the beach and sing in where the crowd was thick, with Johnnie as the headliner and the dunes and inlets entwining hats full of these gala occasions. By working hard and saving his pennies after contributing his share toward the support of the family young Quigley was able to take lessons for time working during the day and picking up an odd dollar at the different concerts. While singing at one of these concerts his sweet voice attracted the attention of a wealthy patron of music who, after learning the manner of youth he was,

THE OPERA HOUSE

"The Christian" as presented by the Thompson-Flynn stock company at the opera house this week is proving one of the best performances so far given by this company, a play of strong dramatic interest, acted by a capable and well balanced company and staged with a lavish hand and with the same careful attention to detail that has so far marked that of each production given. "The Christian" will be played at two performances today and on Saturday afternoon and evening, but the stock company will give no performance on Friday, as Cyril Scott, in "The Lottery Man" will be seen at the Opera House on that date. Next week the stock company is to be seen in a dramatization of Miriam Michelson's widely read story, "In the Bishop's Carriage," a play in which one of the principal characters is that of "Nance O'Don," child of the slums who becomes a female "Raffles," a girl with a keen mind and a good heart but one who had the misfortune to have been taught a criminal career from childhood. The play is one of intense interest and full of strong dramatic situations and in the hands of this clever company will be sure of an excellent presentation. The staging of this play will be given the usual careful attention. "In the Bishop's Carriage" will be given all next week except Wednesday. After the matinee today a reception by members of the company will be held on the stage.—Adv.

"THE LOTTERY MAN." Nothing could ingratiate a reporter more in the eyes of the managing editor than a "scop." Since the first newspaper there has been every kind of "exclusive story" but in the comedy of "The Lottery Man," a new comedy by Rida Johnson Young, which the Shuberts will present at the Opera House next Friday, March 31, with Cyril Scott as the star, is made of perhaps one of the most novel "scops" ever found in the columns of the press.

The central figure in "The Lottery Man" is Jack Wright, a newspaperman, played by Mr. Scott. He is a warm friend of Fex Payton, who owns the paper, and when he gets a Wall street tip, Wright goes to his chief for money, promising as security, in the event of failure, his pledge to turn into the paper one of the biggest stories New York has ever known. As the tip fails, Wright is compelled to make good. This he does by offering himself as the prize in a lottery which is to be conducted by the newspaper. Naturally the coupons appeal mostly to women and the campaign among the thousands of contestants waxes warm. Shyly after Jack has offered himself as the human prize, he falls in love with Helen Heyer, which fact causes him to deeply regret his entry into such a foolish scheme.

An unexpected turn of affairs takes place when the lucky coupon is won by the old maid companion to Mrs. Payton. The maiden lady being very much, as she thinks, in need of a husband, eagerly holds on to the lucky number, only giving it up under the most extraordinary circumstances.

Thick in mail is the thread of the delightful story that Rida Johnson Young—author of "Brown of Harvard," by the way—has won its long run at the Bijou Theatre, New York, comes here with the original cast, including Helen Lowell, Janet Beecher, Louise Gallo, Mary Ethel Winthrop, Mary Leslie, Leslie Mayo, Robert McKay and others.—Adv.

"MADAME X." The company which will present "Madame X" at the Opera House on Wednesday, April 5th, is the original one and comes here direct from the remarkable run of one hundred performances at the Majestic Theatre, Boston. It includes Dorothy Donnelly, who through her impersonation of the long-dreamed heroine has been declared by critics to be the most wonderful emotional actress of the day. The magazines and illustrated journals have for two years lived with one another in lauding her performance and in publishing every varying phase of the emotion she depicts. She is supported by Malcolm Williams, Robert Eaton Gibbs, Harry C. Bradley, W. H. Donn, Maurice Drew, Ralph Morgan, Boyd Nelson, John McKee, Charles H. Henderson, Frank T. Bell, Cecil Kern and Burnette Radcliffe. In the court room scene which occupies three-quarters of an hour an exact reproduction is given of a murder trial before a French Assize court. An ensemble of one hundred people is employed in this act.

The sale of seats opens at 9 a.m. tomorrow and the management announces that the rule of no more than ten seats to one person will be strictly enforced and also that telephone orders for this attraction will be suspended.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The name of the Donald Meek stock company in James A. Herne's celebrated play dealing with New England life has gone throughout the city, spread by well satisfied attendants of the early performances and as a result the advance sale for the concluding performances is unusually large, which may be taken by those who have not seen the play as a tip to order their seats without delay. The capacity of the theatre is limited and no favorites are played at the box office, the rule being first come, first served. Mr. Herne's plays have all been characterized by a strikingly close adherence to life in the matter of plot, dialogue and costuming, and a strict regard to detail, realism being the theme uppermost in the playwright's mind. "Shore Acres" is considered Mr. Herne's best play and therefore it follows that "Shore Acres" must excell in the above-mentioned features, and it does. Mr. Meek whose rule is to present the original without curtain-spars no pains nor expense in producing "Shore Acres" as Herne produced it, and he has been uniformly successful as the repeated curtain calls at each performance well testify. In the character of "Nathaniel Berry," the part created by James A. Herne himself, Mr. Meek has given an interpretation of the exciting part that has surprised even his most sanguine admirers and has assured his success. In that peculiar line of dramatic art did he ever choose to assume it permanently. A native born Pine Tree star could not improve upon him. It seems hard to believe that this character is only one of many of varied nature that he assumes from week to week with very little study or preparation. The cleverness of his work in this character is enhanced by the excellent support given him by the company, particularly by Miss Estelle, Mr. Arnold and Miss Allen, who have the more prominent parts in the play.

Severely DeDeyn will be back in the cast next week and will assume the title role in "Strongheart." Robert DeDeyn has played the part before and is thoroughly at home in it. Mr. Meek will play "Billy," the great comedy part in the play, while Miss Estelle is cast in a congenital role. The play will be elaborately staged.—Adv.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

As a special feature at the Merrimack Square theatre at the sacred concerts to be given next Sunday afternoon and evening, John J. Quigley, known all over the east as America's foremost newsboy tenor, will appear in songs. Mr. Quigley's appearance in Lowell will be his first in five years and no doubt will be received with the decided approval of Lowell theatre-goers, for he is known to many local people. His songs will include "The Blind Boy," "When We Were Sweet Sixteen," "The Garden of My Heart." There will be other good numbers but this one will be the leader.

The week's regular bill continues to attract large audiences daily. Despite the unfavorable weather conditions of last evening the spacious theatre was crowded to the doors by those anxious to see Lamont and his Performing Australian Cockatoos. These wonderful birds are making the biggest hit of the season with young and old, and rightly so for the act is a most unusual one and worthy of all the special mention given it. The other numbers are also sharing in the honors of the week. The Gould Sisters, character change artists, are winning new friends each day and the Pete Lawrence Trio continue to cause laughter from the time of their entrance until their departure. Dick Mansfield and Emma Churchill are also meeting with the approval of their audiences.—Adv.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The vaudeville for the last half of the week includes Phillips and Clayton, a pair of versatile entertainers with new chatter songs and dances that meet with instant approval; Mark Downs, black-faced comedian, with clean wit and songs that furnish no end of amusement for both young and old; John Martha is a comedy musical act that is second to none; harmony melody, intermingled with comedy that is delightful. The motion pictures are the latest and finest ever shown in this

THE INCOME TAX

Battle is to be Made Here

BOSTON, March 30.—A big battle is looming up in the legislature over the adoption of the income tax amendment which went through the committee on federal relations yesterday by a vote of 7 to 4.

The action of the committee was not unexpected, although the opponents of a federal income tax were working hard to prevent the favorable report of the committee.

The constitutional amendment will go through the house, but in the senate its chances are not looked upon as good.

The real fight over the measure is in the senate, where active work was begun yesterday for the defeat of the amendment.

Massachusetts is likely to be regarded as a storm center of organized wealth in all parts of the country, because if Massachusetts passes the amendment this year there will be seven more states to fall in line before the amendment will be part of the federal constitution.

And the example of Massachusetts would be likely to have great weight in other states, because of the fact that so much interest-bearing capital is to be found here.

This is Quarter Week at The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank.

the present time two licenses have been applied for, but each is a separate and distinct premise.

In such cases it was necessary for the applicant to file with the board of police a drawing showing the separation of the premises.

Last year there were but 34 licenses granted but this year there will be but an increase of 12 as a result of the increase in population according to the recent United States census.

It is expected that next week the commissioners will make a tour of inspection of the different places where applications have been made. The applications will have to be advertised for ten days and any time after that they may be granted.

CAUSE OF WRECK

Explained by Crew of the Glencoe

LOUISBURG, N. S., March 30.—Explanation of the sinking of the Gloucester fishing schooner Colonial off Misery point, New Foundland, came yesterday, when 16 sailors of the Colonial's crew arrived from Port Au Basque on the steamer Glencoe. The sailors stated that, owing to the scarcity of fish on the Grand Banks, Captain Upshell of the Colonial decided to operate off Misery point, New Foundland, on the night of March 29th, they had barely anchored in the harbor when a violent gale sprang up which drove the schooner ashore a hour later. The Colonial did not fill and every effort was made to float her. The work of the crew failed to stop the leaks and at five o'clock the schooner slipped off the rocks and sank in ten fathoms of water. The crew took to the dories and landed safely with nearly all of their personal effects.

The 16 sailors have taken passage on the collier Ocean, which has sailed for Boston. Captain Upshell and a single sailor remained at the scene of the wreck.

MAY CLOSE STATION

CAMBRIDGE, March 26.—In his annual report of the Harvard Astronomical observatory, Prof. Pickering, the director of the observatory, states that the deficit has increased to such proportions that the station at Arequipa, Peru, will have to be closed.

The report says:

"The most natural remedy seems to be the closing of the station in Arequipa. It is to be hoped that only a part abandonment of work there will be necessary. The deficit cannot be met by small economies at Cambridge."

FUNERALS

BROWN—On yesterday, Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, was held the service of George B. Brown of Dracut. The service was conducted by Rev. B. A. Willmott, pastor of the First Congregational church, Lowell, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by Rev. F. P. Carver, in charge of the Collingsville Union mission, in which Mr. Brown has been a most active and efficient worker since its earliest days. After the impressive prayer service at the home, 2191 Lakeview avenue, a large number of friends gathered at the Mission chapel to pay a last tribute to one whose earnestness of life and purpose had won the deepest confidence and respect. The floral offerings from relatives and friends were numerous and beautiful. The bearers were the four nephews, sons of the late B. F. Brown of Lexington. Appropriate musical selections were given by Mr. Frank Murphy and Mrs. Stetson Wilson. The burial was at Oakdale cemetery, Dracut, in charge of Undertaker C. M. Young.

GALLAGHER—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Gallagher took place from her late home, 31 Tunels place, this morning at 8:15 o'clock. The cortège proceeded to St. Peter's church, where at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung with Rev. John T. O'Brien as celebrant, Rev. W. George Martin as deacon and Rev. John McGuinness as sub-deacon. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the officiating Miss Mary E. Whiteley sang.

BOYLE—The funeral of the late John J. Boyle took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Patrick Regan, 232 Fayette street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends, also the following delegations from societies of which deceased was an esteemed member, James F. Grifffy, Joseph Puccelli, William E. Reed and Bernard H. Maguire from the local Aerie of Eagles; John J. Quirk, Louis Charbon, Daniel J. Bourke and Michael J. Cassidy, representing the Bartenders' union. At nine o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Owen McGuire, O. M. I. The choir under the direction of Miss Lulu Ginty sang the Gregorian mass, the solo being sustained by Mr. Edward F. Shea and Mrs. Cox. There were many beautiful floral tributes including a large pillow inscribed "Papa" from the children; standing cross, Bartenders' union pillow; from Lowell Aerie, 223 Fraternal Order of Eagles, and a large spray from Miss Maude Dugan. The bearers were Thomas Kivel, Patrick Meehan, Thomas Marren, Martin Flynn, Peter Bourke and Thomas H. Daley, the two latter representing the Elmens. At the grave Rev. Fr. McGuire, O. M. I. read the committing prayers. Burial was in the St. Patrick's cemetery, Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

windows blown in. The tenants, 20 families in all, made a wild rush for the street but were quieted by the policeman who had regained his equilibrium and composure by the time they came streaming down the stairs.

The bomb, apparently deposited in the cellarway early in the night with a time-bomb, was aimed at the wine shop of Anthony Valenza on the ground floor. He admitted that he had recently received threatening letters.

"The Jesus" and after the elevation Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered "Jesus Salvator Mundi," Mrs. J. W. McKeonney presided at the organ. The bearers were Messrs. William Butler, Felix Donnelly, Thomas Butler, James Campbell, Patrick Kinnane and James McCann. Deacon was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. John McGuinness read the committal prayers. Present at the funeral were three brothers of the deceased, Messrs. John, Michael and Owen McCourt, of New York city. It is only three weeks since they were here to bury their brother Thomas. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker John J. O'Connell.

HASTY—The funeral of John Hasty took place this morning at 8:30 from his late home, 4 Bay State court off West 4th street and was largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Murphy. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir. The soloists were Miss Griffin and Mr. Thomas P. Boulger. Miss Carolyn White was the organist. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Murphy read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Mr. Horan, Mr. Kelley, Mr. Connolly, Mr. W. M. Geulen, Mr. Kerwin, C. H. Molloy and Sons, undertakers in charge.

TANSEY—The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Tansey took place this morning at 9:30 from her late home, 161 Chestnut street and was very largely attended. A funeral high mass was celebrated in the Immaculate Conception church at 10 o'clock by Rev. Dennis Sullivan, O. M. I. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir. Mr. Edward Shea was the soloist. The organist was Miss Lulu Ginty. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery where Rev. Fr. Sullivan read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Michael Connors, Michael Horan, John Graham and James Burns. Among the floral offerings were: Large wreath on base inscribed "Mother" from Mr. and Mrs. Owen Tansey and family; large cross on base inscribed "Mother" from Mr. and Mrs. John Tansey and family; large pillow inscribed "Grandmother" from the Crowley children, C. H. Molloy and Sons, undertakers in charge.

HIS THROAT CUT

Body of Man Found in Gutter

WOXBURN, March 30.—The body of John Richardson, an aged resident of Woburn, was found early today lying in the gutter in front of the house at 24 Davis street, where he lived with his daughter. The throat was cut and nearby was a bloodstained razor. The medical examiner said that Mr. Richardson had committed suicide. He was 70 years of age and for several months had been suffering from mental illness, believed to have been due to 15 health.

TRAIN HELD UP

Robbers Got Away With $40,000

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—Robbers held up a train at Widsow, a small station on the Warsaw and Granite line, last night, and secured $40,000 which was to have been used for the payment of railroad employees. Two passengers were wounded by the robbers, who escaped.

SUGAR CANE

TO BE USED IN MANUFACTURE OF PAPER

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Another substance from which paper may be made has been discovered by a manager of a sugar estate situated in Trinidad, according to Consul Hale, at that place. The new substance is ground sugar cane, to which is added bamboo fibre. The mingling of these two, the discoverer believes, produces a substance of which the fibre is of the right nature to make a cheap and excellent paper. He has made paper by this process without the use of any chemicals.

TO EXTEND RAILROAD

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 30.—The New Brunswick government today introduced in the house of assembly legislation to provide for the extension of the New Brunswick Coal & Railroad Co. line from Minto to Fredericton, a distance of 31 miles. The line now runs from Norton to Minto, tapping the coal fields of Queens county. The legislation will provide a bond guarantee of $15,000 a mile and stipulates that any company contracting to build the extension must lease the present line, purchase at least 10,000 tons of coal a year and enter into a contract with the Canadian Pacific railroad or other company under which the latter will take over the line in a few years and equip, maintain and operate it, paying the producer 40 per cent. of the gross earnings.

6 O'CLOCK BUBBLING FOUNTAINS

Lands and Buildings Committee
Saw Demonstration of Them

Fire Department Committee Inspected Fire Houses and Apparatus—Committee on Appropriations to Meet Tonight—State Inspector to Talk on Moth Extermination

The committee on lands and buildings met at city hall at 9 o'clock this forenoon and went to the Bartlett school to see a number of bubbling fountains in operation there. It was the first practical demonstration of bubble fountains to be given in this city and the committee arranged to get to the school at recess time to see the children use the fountains and to observe which of the fountains the children could tamper with the least.

Fire Department Committee

The committee on fire department met at city hall at 1 o'clock this afternoon and started in on a series of views covering the entire first district in this city. The committee went out in autos.

Committee on Streets

The committee on streets met at 2 o'clock and went out later to view a number of places mentioned in petitions for street improvements. The committee has a raft of petitions to consider and the most important ones will be the first to receive attention.

LAND AT REST THE CORAM HOME

Remains of Michael McGone Brought Here

A large number of well known residents of Lowell and Billerica attended the funeral of the late Michael McGone, a former well known resident of North Billerica, which took place this morning from his late home, 15 Banks street, Cambridge. The remains were taken to St. Paul's church, where at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Buckley. The choir under the direction of Mr. George McConnell, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant. After the elevation Leylah's beautiful "Pie Jesu" was rendered by Mrs. Hugh Walker, soprano soloist at the Immaculate-Conceptio church, this city, and a relative of the deceased. The bearers were Messrs. Charles P. Smith, Martin H. Reidy, Michael J. Reidy of this city, and Chief of Police Martin Conway of North Billerica, all relatives of the deceased. The remains were then conveyed to Lowell on the 1207 train and the interment took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers at the grave were read by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church. The interment was in charge of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LOSS IS $200,000

ALEXANDRIA, La., March 30.—A $200,000 fire practically wiped out the business section of Pollock, La., last night. Twenty-eight buildings, including two hotels, several stores and residences, were destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

INVESTIGATION OF VICE CHARGES

NEW YORK, March 30.—The grand jury began an investigation today into the charges brought by Magistrate Corrigan that vice and crime are rampant in the city. Frank Moss, first assistant district attorney, and George Gordon Battle, as special assistant, have charge for the city. Commissioner Copesey, head of the police department, was the first witness called. He was examined with reference to the physical condition of the force, its state of discipline, his methods of administration and the difficulties that surround his task. Before the investigation runs its course it is probable that all the deputy commissioners and many inspectors and captains will also be called to testify.

JUNK DEALERS ARRESTED

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 30.—Delectives of the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co. have succeeded in rousing down a number of junk dealers who purchased stolen company property from boys. This property consisted of safety appliances for passenger and freight trains.

As a result of the thefts the company was heavily fined in the federal courts for violating the rules of the inter-state commerce commission in not having the safety appliances on cars. The company officials began a thorough investigation and the arrest of a number of junk dealers and boys in this city followed.

FIREMEN FIGHTING FLAMES AT CAPITOL AT ALBANY

To Repair Damage Caused by Fire in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—The work of rehabilitating the fire-swept state capitol, begun yesterday while the names were still crackling in the western wing, was continued today with increased vigor. First efforts were directed to drying out the portions of the great building untouched by the fire but thoroughly soaked by the tons of water poured on the conflagration. Today the legislative leaders were expected to confer with Governor Dix and State Architect Ware, regarding the appropriation necessary to repair the building. The state architect has recommended that the legislature authorizes immediately the preparation of plans for rebuilding the ruined third and fourth floors in the west end. This work will include the replanning of the interior to meet the demands of the offices that will occupy the quarters from which fire drove the education department. For this department a building in course of construction. Unofficial estimates place the cost of re-construction, close to $4,000,000. It is said that an appropriation of this size would practically wipe out the estimated surplus remaining in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal year. The state cannot hold itself for rebuilding and the money must be taken directly from the treasury. At present the whole building, except the offices on the east front, is as damp as an underground cell. A large part of the paper match ceiling in the assembly chamber will have to be renewed.

Before they can be used again, the members' desks will have to be refinished and it may be necessary to purchase a new outfit of interior assembly room furnishings.

The first inspection after the smoke cleared away concluded the state architect that the remaining walls of the southwestern cupola were unsafe, and the occupants of houses on the opposite side of State street have been directed to vacate until the walls are pulled down or shored safely in place. Present indications are that there will be no investigation of the cause of the fire.

Other reforms, besides improved electrical wiring, suggested in connection with the rehabilitation of the building, are a supply of chemical extinguishers in all offices and corridors and the removal of inflammable records, which have accumulated in other parts of the structure almost as heavily padded and pamphlets and piled on the wooden shelves of the ruined state library. The men who discovered the fire yesterday morning say that they could have put it out easily if they could have found an extinguisher or even a few pails of water.

STOOD ORDEAL WELL

Informer Cross-Examined at the Trial of the Camorristas

VITERBO, Italy, March 30.—Genna, asserted by the other prisoners that the carabinieri who ran down the camorristas had manufactured the Cuoccolo ring evidence. According to the police, the ring had been taken from the hand of Cuoccolo to be sent to Luigi Arena, in proof of the death of the man whom Arena had denounced as a traitor to the camorrista. The carabinieri swore that they found this ring at the home of a woman companion of the assassins.

Most of the questions asked by President Bianchi and the lawyers for the defense concerned matters of secondary importance and were intended to impeach the informer. The latter stood the ordeal very well, making many admissions concerning his own evil career, but clinging tenaciously to the story of camorrista crimes which he originally told to the police inspector, Marshal Capozzuti, and later submitted in the form of an affidavit to the court.

Lawyer Torre, of counsel for the defense, today received an anonymous letter in which the writer attempted to prove that which has before been

FANCY DANCING

Reception Given by Miss Ockington

A pleasant time was enjoyed in Associate hall last evening by the large number of guests who attended the reception given by Miss Ockington. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion while the stage was covered with palms and ferns.

The program consisted of fancy and general dancing by the pupils till the intermission, which was followed by general dancing by the guests. The fancy dances were extremely delightful, and naturally the feature of the evening.

The march was led by Master Theodore Currier, Miss Eleanor Midwood, Master Allan Adams and Miss Isabel Whitman, with charming grace and aplomb. The first special dance on the program was a minuet, danced by wee maidens in Wallgate shepherdess dress and tiny courtiers in knee breeches and powdered wig. The little dancers of the minuet were:

Master Alanson Isherwood, Miss Freda Atkinson, Master Leon Pickard, Miss Eveleigh Atkinson, Master Mor-

100 YEARS OLD

MRS. WHITING OF BELLWOS
FALLS OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY

BELLWOS FALLS, Vt., March 30.—Mrs. Crissanna Bailey Whiting, the oldest person in this section of the state, celebrated her 100th birthday yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. N. Weston. Mrs. Whiting received many congratulations from friends and relatives.

Among those present to help celebrate the event were children and great-grandchildren. In spite of her advanced years Mrs. Whiting received her guests with the grace and dignity of a woman many years younger.

She was assisted in receiving by her brother, R. F. Bailey of Hastings, N. Y., they being the only surviving members of a family of ten children. Mrs. Whiting being the oldest and Mr. Bailey the youngest.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A system of wholesale smuggling of furs from Canada, in which innocent purchasers in the United States have been the ultimate losers, has been discovered by Chief Wilkie's customs agents.

Houston, Tex., is said to have been the base of operations and the trade came to the attention of the customs officers, because of the unusually great amount of express matter shipped from Houston, which is a comparatively small station.

Chief Wilkie says the plan has been for dealers in Montreal and other Canadian cities to sell furs to Americans, collecting their pay, in advance, and promising to deliver the goods duty free. One valuable fur coat has been seized in Buffalo and about $1000 worth of furs has been seized in Chicago by special agents.

Nearly 100 other cases of fur-smuggling have been discovered in the past week. An extensive investigation will be made and all smuggled furs will be seized.

WORCESTER, March 30.—Barney Karoski, aged 4½ years, son of Wladyslaw Karoski of 17 Prescott place, while playing in the kitchen of his home yesterday tumbled backward into a boiler of hot water his mother was using for washing and received scalds which will result in his death, according to a statement by city hospital physicians last night.

After the frenzied mother pulled the child from the water she grabbed the first bottle that came to hand and poured it over his body. The liquid proved to be bluing and the acid aggravated the scalds so that the agony of the child was greatly intensified.

WORCESTER, March 30.—Barney Karoski, aged 4½ years, son of Wladyslaw Karoski of 17 Prescott place, while playing in the kitchen of his home yesterday tumbled backward into a boiler of hot water his mother was using for washing and received scalds which will result in his death, according to a statement by city hospital physicians last night.

After the frenzied mother pulled the child from the water she grabbed the first bottle that came to hand and poured it over his body. The liquid proved to be bluing and the acid aggravated the scalds so that the agony of the child was greatly intensified.

Houston, Tex., is said to have been

DEFEAT OF DADMAN

"DICK" FERRIS

Plans to Seize Lower California

Recalls Convention When He Was Elected in 1895

The defeat of Girard P. Dadman by Stephen Flynn at the joint convention, last night, recalls the defeat of Michael J. Dowd by Girard P. Dadman 15 years ago.

Mr. Dadman was first elected city clerk in 1885 and held office three years. He was defeated by Michael J. Dowd, who held office until defeated by Mr. Dadman at the memorable joint convention held Thursday night, August 1, 1895. This is the joint convention referred to by City Solicitor Duncan in a recent opinion on joint conventions. Mr. Duncan had been asked how long the common council might legally continue to duck a joint convention and he took occasion to remark that once upon a time a joint convention was held as late as the month of August. The joint convention referred to was the one at which Girard P. Dadman defeated Michael J. Dowd for the office of city clerk, but Mr. Duncan failed to state why the convention was postponed until so late a date.

The common council was composed of four members from each of the wards, making a total of 24 members, as there were but six wards at that time. The council failed to agree on the selection of a president until shortly before the holding of the joint convention, so that the case cited by Mr. Duncan was in no way similar to the one that he was asked to pass upon.

The men who were interested in politics at that time will readily recall the joint convention in question. It was an all night affair and there was something doing every minute.

Among the sensations of the evening was a row between republican alderman and a republican councilman. The councilman accused the alderman of a crooked play and later the lie was passed. The record of the affair, however, does not say that the ambulance was summoned.

The ballot for city clerk at this convention was as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 26; Girard P. Dadman had 17, Michael J. Dowd, 9. Mr. Dadman was declared elected and has held office ever since.

Learning of the reported plan of the Mexican insurgents, which is to seize Lower California, Dick Ferris, manager of the Panama-Pacific road race, who says he is at the head of 100 representative American citizens, wrote to President Diaz of Mexico asking him if he would receive a representative of the 100 and arrange to have the piece of land which the rebels are seeking turned over to them. The purpose of this movement, quoting the dispatch to Diaz, is to "establish a Premier Asquith and Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador, who were the principal speakers, seized the opportunity to eulogize the arbitration movement.

Swinglettes interfered with the proceedings, and when the prime minister began they unfurled banners bearing the inscription "Votes for Women." The banners were torn up after a free fight.

Mr. Asquith said:

"The English Bible belongs not only to the subjects of King George, but to the whole English speaking world. One of the truths which has been slow to realize, and which not I believe is firmly rooted in the faith of Christians, men and women on both sides of the Atlantic, is the war between English speaking people would not only be a calamity to civilization but an irreparable breach of these new commandments which are enshrined in the New Testament on which both nations have been bred.

A SUDDEN END

To Case Against Mining Company

CONCORD, March 30.—The trial of the promoters of the Oxford Gold Mining company was continued yesterday morning in the United States district court and came to a sudden termination at the opening of the afternoon session, shortly after 2 o'clock.

The witness during the morning session had been Inspector Spofford of the postoffice department and this gentleman was preparing to take the stand again this afternoon, when the defendants withdrew the plea of not guilty which had been entered in their behalf, and through their attorneys entered a plea of noi, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court.

The court ordered that Leo Richard pay a fine of $200; that John A. Delisle pay a fine of $1000; and that Theodore Boudreau pay a fine of $2000 and be imprisoned for six months in the Hillsborough county jail at Manchester. The first two defendants paid their respective fines and were discharged from the custody of the court. Boudreau was committed.

The prosecution was conducted by United States District Attorney Holt of Nashua. In answer to questions from the postoffice inspector, Mr. Boudreau, one of the prisoners, said that the Oxford company six years ago bought 240 acres of mining land in Houghton, Me., for $1200. This land was sold to the company by Mr. Boudreau and Mr. Delisle and the company, organized with 300,000 shares at a par value of $1. Half of these were taken over by the promoters and the other 150,000 were put on sale to the public.

Mr. Boudreau testified that the company sold 131,774 shares at different prices. The sale started at ten cents a share and 5254 shares were sold. In September, 1905, the price went to twenty cents and 15,748 were sold. In December of the same year the stock rose to twenty-five cents, and later 14,345 went off at fifty cents. Three years ago par was reached and $6,926 were disposed of. In 1909 stock doubled to $2 and 7507 shares were sold. In December of the same year the price went to $3 with a sale of 3000 shares.

The trial lasted all day. Tuesday until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Judge Aldrich presided.

A number of shares of the Oxford Gold Mining company have been sold in Lowell.

HANGED FOR MURDER

Man Joked of Death Up to the Very End

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 30.—A remarkable display of nerve was made in the county jail yard here today by Joseph Christok, who was hanged for the murder last fall of Mrs. Ann Richards. Declining the preferred assistance of a priest and deputy sheriff, the man walked smilingly from his cell to the foot of the gallows and ran right up the steps. It was a public hanging and before him stood 1500 persons, to whom he waved his hand. Then he reached up, grasped the fatal noose and placed it around his neck. He joked of death to the very end.

SCHOONER IS MISSING

It is Feared That Vessel Has Been Lost

BOSTON, March 30.—Some uneasiness is felt for the Boston schooner J. M. Haynes, which is 30 days out from Brunswick, Ga., to this port, a trip which usually requires from a week to ten days. The Haynes is a staunch three-masted and has always been a good sea boat. She loaded a cargo of yellow pine at Brunswick. The schooner was last reported by Captain Walls of the schooner Willie Child of Houston, Me., who sighted her off Cape Henry during a northwest gale on March 15. The Haynes appeared to be in good condition at that time but it is possible she was blown into the gulf stream by the gale. The Child left Brunswick March 2 and arrived here Wednesday after a rough passage. The commander of the Haynes is Captain Rickson of Malden, who was commander of the Boston schooner Cox and Green which was abandoned at sea last November. Captain Rickson was accompanied on that voyage by his bride, Henry during a northwest gale on

"THE BEST LAID SCHEMES, ETC."

Had the republicans of the common council gone into joint convention after inauguration day, they might have elected both clerk and treasurer. They adopted evasive tactics to their own undoing. The election of Stephen Flynn as city clerk is another reminder of that well known couplet by Burns—

"The best laid schemes o' mice and men
Gang all a-gley."

THE EASIEST WAY

We do not think that Mr. Walters, the author of "the Easiest Way," the play suppressed by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, has shown by his scurrilous attack on the mayor and the reputation of Boston that the mayor's action was not warranted. On the contrary everyone who reads his communication will agree with Mayor Fitzgerald.

We are of the opinion that The Easiest Way as well as the most sensible for Mr. Walters is to subside so far as Boston is concerned. He cannot overrule the mayor and he cannot put Boston off the map.

THE LORDS MAY SURRENDER

The Loudon Spectator until quite recently has held out for a no surrender fight against the veto measure. Now, however, it advises a surrender so that the lords may be able to use whatever power is left under the suspensory veto against the passing of a home rule for Ireland bill. There is also a far away hope that in the interim of two years something may occur to split up the ministry and bring the unionists into power. In this respect they will be disappointed as in their other schemes for the whole nation has decided in favor of home rule and the lords in butting it any farther are simply fighting the inevitable.

AN INANE JOURNALISTIC POLICY

We believe in clean journalism, but we do not believe in the negative journalistic virtue that would prevent a newspaper from saying anything that would injure any human being. We believe in denouncing men and measures that are a menace to the public good or to public morals. No healthy newspaper will hold gamblers, crooks and grafters immune from attack by the press on the pharisaical pretext of not saying anything to hurt anybody's feelings. The paper that does not assail men who carry on an illegal or immoral business, or men who set before the youth of the city a bad example, men who rob the city they are paid to serve, is not doing its duty as a public journal and is, therefore, unworthy of support and wholly useless to any progressive community. The live newspaper, in order to promote what is pure and true and good, must denounce the opposites, and that is why no live paper can adopt the inane policy of "saying nothing that will injure any human being."

WE MUST HELP BILLERICA

When ten or twelve thousand people settle in the village of North Billerica, demanding tenements, fire protection, water service and schools, the town will not be able to accommodate them, and they will either have to come to Lowell or else Lowell will have to go out to them by means of annexation.

The establishment of such a large industry in the village will benefit Lowell very largely under any circumstance so that we may as well be prepared to meet the problem as best we can. There is plenty of land along the west side of the Concord between Lowell and Billerica suitable for factory sites, and it is probable that factories will locate there. The chief difficulty to be overcome would be the lack of railroad accommodation on that side the river. To meet this a new bridge will be a necessity in the near future and would certainly be a great benefit to the people of South Lowell.

The new industry will gradually help to work out the means of supplying the needs of its employees; but the elements of fire protection and the other accommodations mentioned can be provided only by a city. Had the industry grown from small dimensions, the town could take care of it, but for a small town the proposition to provide promptly for twice its own population is one which it cannot meet without assistance. Lowell will have to assist Billerica, and by cooperation with the town the difficulty can be easily handled.

HOW TO LIVE A HUNDRED YEARS

The problem of how to live a hundred years has been solved by Dr. Lorand of Hungary. His prescription is quite sensible, and so far as can be judged it is as nearly right as any human being can make it. It is as follows:

"Get born right. Having nothing unfavorable in your ancestry. Avoid an unhappy marriage. Wear loose collars. Eat little meat. Drink milk freely. Exercise as much as possible in the open air. Breathe deeply and regularly. Bathe daily. Wear porous clothing. Go to bed early and get up early. Sleep not more than seven and a half hours in a very dark room with an open window. Rest one whole day each week, without reading or writing. Avoid all worry. Be temperate in the use of coffee, tea and alcohol."

That phrase "Get Born Right" is a very important consideration and one over which we have unfortunately no control. It is a fact that many children have to bear the burden of ills handed down by their ancestry and come into the world physical bankrupts as it were. Where the parents are physical or nervous wrecks, it cannot be expected that the children will be physically and mentally strong. It is plain, therefore, that upon the character, the mental and physical qualities of the present generation depends largely whether the future generation will have many centenarians. If a man's nervous capital has been wasted by his parents, he cannot expect to live to a very old age. In other words he is handicapped in his ancestry, as Dr. Lorand wisely remarks.

SEEN AND HEARD

Yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock a bulletin at the Sun office announced the appointment of Henry E. Carr as a member of the park commission and an hour later Mr. Carr had a couple of visitors at his place of business looking for a job.

It is not so much—What you think, as what you say. What you earn, as what you gave. What you say, as how you say it. What you want, as what you need. What you believe, as what you do. What you give, as how you give it. What you work, as how it is done. What you possess, as how you use it. What you learn, as what you remember.

"Whenever the course of true love begins to run smooth," said Wilton Lackaye, "the devil is sure to come along and dump a few rocks in the road." There was the case of Miss Casey and my friend Graham.

"I'll bet you don't know what day tomorrow is," she announced suddenly one evening.

"Why, Tuesday, of course," he answered in a puzzled tone.

"Oh, I don't mean that kind of a day. I knew you didn't know."

"I don't know. What do you mean?" he replied helplessly.

"Well, I guess I'll have to tell you. She pretended she was hurt. 'It will be my birthday.'

"Congratulations, Alice, congratulations," he exclaimed enthusiastically. "And how old may—"

"That's for you to find out," she answered laughing.

"Well, I bet I know."

"You do?"

"Yes, and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll send you a rose for every year of your life. How will that do?"

"At the florist's he found the assistant unoccupied. 'Send Miss Casey eighteen of your best roses tomorrow morning. You know the address. Eighteen. Your best. Understand?'

The boy understood. Half an hour later the proprietor was looking over the order book.

"Eighteen roses, sir," answered Wilton.

"Eighteen? It's a pretty good customer. Throw in a dozen more."

PEOPLE WILL TALK

We may go through the world; but 'twill be very slow.

If we listen to all that is said as we go;

If we're worried and fretted and kept in a stew;

For middlesong tongues must have something to do;

For people will talk.

If quiet and modest, 'twill then be presumed;

That your humble position is only assumed;

You're a wolf in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool;

But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool—

For people will talk.

If generous and noble they'll vent out their spleen;

You'll hear some loud hints that you're a gash and mean;

If upright and honest and fair as the day—

say—

They'll call you a rogue, in a sly, snacking way—

For people will talk.

Then, if you show the least boldness of heart,

Or a slight inclination to take your own part,

They'll call you an up-start, conceited, and vain,

But keep straight ahead, don't stop to explain—

For people will talk.

If you dress in the fashion don't think to escape,

For they'll criticize, then in a far different style—

You're about of your means, or your bills are unpaid,

But mind your own business and keep straight ahead—

For people will talk.

They'll talk fine before you but then at your back,

Or venom and spite there is never a lack;

How kind and polite in all that they say,

But bitter as gall when you're out of the way—

For people will talk.

Good friend, take my advice and do as you please;

For your mind (if you have one) will then be at ease;

Through life you will meet with all sorts of abuse;

But don't think to stop them, 'twill be of no use—

For people will talk.

—An Old Poem.

That something "strapped" at city hall Tuesday night.

That Councilman Brady though not a shoemaker knows how to stick to the truth.

That Joe Hibbard in voting to sustain the governor's veto of the Hibbard bill appropriating $2500 for Lowell, was giving the governor the benefit of the doubt.

That despite the advent of the hobble and harem skirts the Stiles at city hall will remain unchanged this spring.

That the idea of a Carr running over the park system does not suit the aesthetic taste of some. This Carr will move some, too.

That Joe Legare already has the entire postoffice bunch "with him."

That while they done Dunn in the caucuses at Chelmsford, Dunn done came back on election day.

That the results in Chelmsford, demonstrate the fact that Jim Dunnigan has not yet lost his grip.

That if they continue to throw down the proposition for a statue to General Butler, it will be up to the citizens of Lowell to have a statue erected by popular subscription.

forward was the hardship to be suffered by the children of the locality in stormy weather, when forced on a long journey to school in a different district. The argument was also brought forward that the city government should hardly begrudge Little Canada the patric sum needed to maintain its public school when people of that district were relying on the city for much expense by maintaining parochial schools attended by thousands.

The latter held their regular meeting last night in their rooms in Dutton street, the main feature of which was the passing of a unanimous vote protesting against the abolishing of the said school. The meeting was a large one and was presided over by Vice-President Achille St. Pierre.

Several members of the club spoke on the question, condemning the plan, which was declared unjust and unjustifiable. The chief argument brought

The vote recently taken by the school board to close the Cheever street school has brought forth a lot of comment among the residents of the Clinton Americans club.

Monster Funeral Procession is Planned in New York

NEW YORK. March 30.—Arrangements for a funeral demonstration in which 150,000 sympathizers will be asked to join, the identification of four more bodies, leaving only 16 now unnamed, the swelling of the relief fund to nearly $50,000 and the continued effort by the district attorney's office and the fire marshal to fix the blame, were yesterday's activities which followed Saturday's fire horror.

It is proposed to draw the bodies of most of the 143 victims through the streets of the city on Monday in a great funeral procession headed by a chorus of 70 singers from the Jewish choristers' union followed by the 600 surviving employees of the Triangle waist company and as many sympathizing workers as can be induced to join.

The United cloak makers' union has asked that all its 70,000 members march in the procession, and according to the proposal made to the police today a line of 150,000 can easily be formed if the authorities will permit Jewish victims to be buried in Mt. Sinai cemetery, the few Italians and others elsewhere.

Thirty women were removed late last night from a memorial mass meeting for the victims of the Washington place fire in Grand Central palace suffering from hysteria to such extent that ambulance surgeons were called to attend them and to remove some to the hospital. More than 3000 persons were at the meeting, mostly women, whose nerves were unstrung by the recital which some of the speakers made of Saturday's fire horror. The meeting was under direction of the shirtwaist and dressmakers' union.

Twenty-five survivors told their stories of the catastrophe to assistants in the district attorney's office today and the others appeared before five

Marshal William L. Beers. A number of employees testified at the district attorney's office to the heroism of Fannie Langner, who hurried scores of girls from the eighth floor to the elevator and superintended crowding them into the car. Again and again she went into the smoke-filled cutting rooms and brought out girls. Finally she fell exhausted and perished.

Louis Senderman, an assistant shipping clerk of the Triangle waist company, testified that when the alarm was given he ran to one of the stand pipes on the eighth floor, unwound the hose and opened the valve. No water came, and he realized that he was helpless to check the flames. Not only was there no water in the standpipes, but the hose was rotten, he testified.

The factory girls who testified yesterday were unanimous in their statements—that the exit doors were not locked, but opened inward.

AVIATION RACE

BIG EVENT WILL HAVE TO BE ABANDONED

BERLIN, March 30.—The projected international aviation race between Paris, Berlin and London will be abandoned owing to the attitude of the Paris Journal, one of the papers contributing to the prizes, yielding to the French agitation against flights in Germany. The Berliner Miltag Zeitung will apply the $25,000, which it offered for the event, to another contest.

For State Highway in Lakeview Avenue

Town Also Votes Money for Lakeview Avenue, Mammoth Road and General Road Work—Representative Stevens Secured Additional Appropriation

Representative Stevens of Dracut, under the small towns act, has secured an additional appropriation for the completion of the state highway on Lakeview avenue in Dracut. Last year he secured a similar amount from the highway commission for the same purpose.

The selectmen of Dracut have appeared with Rep. Stevens before the highway commission twice this year in behalf of the additional appropriation which finally has been awarded.

There are many people who up to this time were not aware of the fact that any part of Lakeview avenue was a state highway but it appears that last year's appropriation was used to put in a stretch of state highway from the city line in Lakeview avenue near the Fels line to Pleasant street, and it is probably the intention to continue the work from Pleasant street. At the recent town meeting it was voted to appropriate $2000 for the continuation of this work on condition that the state would appropriate a similar amount.

The state highway commission having made good, the total appropriation will be $4000. Lakeview avenue is a bad stretch of road in that vicinity and the improvement will be generally appreciated.

Another petition was filed by Representative George H. Stevens and others, asking the county commissioners to alter and improve the Mammoth road between the Lowell and Pelham lines. Should the commissioners concur to do a portion of the work on the Mammoth road this year as did the state highway commissioners in making an allotment for the work in Lakeview avenue, the movement for the establishing of good roads locally will have Samuel Bourne refused to admit that he was drunk yesterday, but after Officer Joseph L. Lamoureux had testified to the effect that Bourne was turned over to him at 3 o'clock this morning by Sergt. Groux and that he was staggering drunk, the court sentenced Bourne to the state farm.

Timothy McCarthy admitted his guilt of being drunk and was given a similar sentence, while Fred L. Jones for the same offense was ordered to the common jail for a term of 3 months.

FIRE TRAPS FOUND

Boston Health Commissioners Determined to Make Prosecutions

BOSTON, March 30.—As a result of investigation by the health commissioners, the prosecution of North End fire traps has commenced. One arrest was made last night and other offenders will be summoned into court to-day.

The commissioners of the board of health yesterday turned over to Commissioner Everett of the building department data of at least a dozen buildings in the North End visited between 10 o'clock and midnight Tuesday. The commissioners visited about 20 places in all with a view of discovering violations of the lodging-house regulations.

The commissioners found in one place a man, a woman and six children, living in three rooms. In addition to this family there were nine lodgers, making a total of 17 persons living in three rooms.

In another place of five rooms they found 23 persons housed.

In another still they found a woman about 50 years of age, whose husband is at present in the hospital, keeping 11 lodgers in three rooms, a kitchen, a sleeping room and a dark side room, in the last named of which she slept herself.

In these places and in others visited the commissioners found the windows closed and atmosphere stifling. In most cases they found that the lodgers slept with stocking caps pulled over their heads.

After observing conditions as to numbers, the commissioners next threw open the windows and made inspection as to fire escapes. Only in a few instances were any fire exits provided.

The commissioners made note of such cases and yesterday reported them to Commissioner Everett as fire traps.

Commissioner Everett with his limited force of inspectors, two men and both old, will have the North End fire traps looked up at the earliest possible moment. The two additional inspectors authorized by Mayor Fitzgerald for fire escape inspection have not yet been selected because the mayor's authorization has not reached the commissioners officially.

Many of the buildings in which the overcrowded conditions were found are three, four and five stories in height. The health commissioners feel that in these a fire of any magnitude would be accompanied with loss of life.

The health commissioners will put a number of the keepers of these lodging-houses in court charged with violation of the lodging-house regulations.

TEACHERS WIN

They Will Get Increase in Pay

BOSTON, March 30.—At the largest attended hearing ever held by the committee on cities of the legislature, the elementary teachers' assistants of Boston last night received assurance at the state house that the long sought for raise in salaries would be given them.

These teachers are to receive an increase of $48 minimum and $96 maximum, to be met by an increase on taxes of 10 cents next year and 10 cents the year after.

Mayor Fitzgerald, Chairman Joseph Lee of the school committee and former Attorney General Herbert Parker, who represents the teachers, are to hold a conference, at which they will agree on a bill to amend the one which is now before the legislature, which calls for 15 cents in 1911, giving a maximum salary of $1200 instead of $936 as at present.

The commissioners made note of such cases and yesterday reported them to Commissioner Everett as fire traps.

Commissioner Everett with his limited force of inspectors, two men and both old, will have the North End fire

TEAM LOOKS GOOD

Textile School Will Have Strong Nine

Coach D. F. McMahon of the Textile school baseball team states that he is going to have some team this season and he ought to know. He is a player of wide experience and a successful coach with a specialty of turning out heavy hitters.

The season will open April 8, with Rindge Manual Training school, on the local campus. The rest of the schedule is as follows: April 12, Gardner High at Lowell; April 15, Lawrence Academy at Groton; April 19, Boston University at Lowell; April 22, Gardner High at Gardner; April 26, M. I. T. 1913 at Lowell; April 29, St. Anselms at Manchester; May 3, Lawrence Academy at Lowell; May 10, Tufts 2d at Lowell; April 13, Exeter at Everett.

Joseph B. Thaxter '11, who caught last year, has been elected captain and will go behind the bat. Two other candidates for this position are S. Pianowski '13, who caught on the Volkman school team, and Jack Frost, formerly with the Somerville High. Among the candidates for pitcher, the most likely is Aspinwall '13, who played on the Brown University nine last year. A. J. Dow '12, who played the outfield last year, will try his hand in the box. He is a southpaw and so is Davieau, a likely looking freshman.

Johnson '13 of Beloit college, and Clark '12 of Plymouth, are out for first base. Niven '12, who played in the outfield last year, will probably cover the second bag, although Dalton '12 and Ware '13 are giving him a close run for the position. Ford '11, of Lawrence will most likely be seen at shortstop, as he seems to have the call so far. F. T. Phillips '11 last year's star third-sacker, will again play that position. This corner is sure to be well looked after, as he has no superior on any of the Eastern college teams.

There is a large amount of outfit material to draw from in Jefferson '11, a veteran of two years; Cleary '13, a star who played on the Boston English High team; Waterhouse '13, of Providence; Minis '12, of Georgia; Hennet '13, of Hartford; Peck '13, of New Haven; Shedd '13 of Malden; O'Brien '13, of Boston, and Batcheller '13, of Worcester.

Money deposited this week in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest Saturday.

IN THE CHURCHES

Two weeks ago the pastor of the First Baptist church had slips distributed to the members of the congregation, that they might write there on what they considered the greatest temptation threatening the welfare of young men of the present day.

The temptations regarded by the majority as the greatest dangers were selected by Mr. Cummings as topics for a series of sermons entitled "Evil in the Lives of Young Men of Lowell." Mr. Cummings stated on Sunday that enough subjects had been handed in to keep the minister's pen busy for a year's sermons. It may be interesting to know the list of subjects. "Intemperance and the Saloon," led by a large majority. There were many other "off-laws" suggested which were of value to a minister in his effort to deal with the actual problems facing some of his hearers.

Worthen Street Church.

The members of the Epsworth League of the Worthen Street M. E. church surprised their pastor, Rev. J. W. Stephan, at his home last night and presented him a handsome watch chain and chain; also a gold piece. Mr. Harry Law made the presentation speech to which Mr. Stephan responded. Refreshments were served and a delightful time was enjoyed.

First Baptist Church.

The concert which was so successfully given by the young people of the First Baptist church on March 8, was repeated in the vestry last night before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. John C. McElvey had general charge and the exceptional manner in which it was carried out reflected creditably on the director.

Those who contributed to the evening's enjoyment were: Miss Ethel Thompson, in songs; Mr. Horatio Legget, songs; Mr. William Corr, whistling; Miss Ethel Trueworthy, readings; and Mr. McElvey, songs.

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

Will Appear at Merrimack Square Sunday

Just as a compliment to his old friend Manager Carroll of the Merrimack Square theatre, Johnnie Quigley, once known as America's Newsboy tenor but now head of the John J. Quigley big booking agency, will come to Lowell next Sunday, and appear at all the performances at the Merrimack Square theatre in a budget of songs and repeat his success of a few years ago.

Years ago, not many but some, Johnnie Quigley was a newsboy in South Boston and newsboys in South Boston in those days were some odds. Johnnie could sing from the time he was able to fall out of a cradle and from his earliest years he had a love for music and an abiding knowledge of it. When he attended school his voice always attracted the attention of his teachers and he did all the solo stunts to the envy of the other kids. Among the newsboys he was regarded as a little tit nod for when the bunch were broke Johnnie would be sent into some public place to turn out a song while the bunch would pass the hats and all would divide. On Sundays the bunch having held out the price of steamboat tickets to Nantucket would take an early boat to the beach and gettng in where the crowd was thick, that was sing a program of songs always with Johnnie as the headliner and the dimes and nickels came in handfuls on these gay occasions. By working hard and saving his pennies after contributing his share toward the support of the family young Quigley was able to take lessons for a time, working during the day and picking up an odd dollar at the different concerts. While singing at one of these concerts his sweet voice attracted the attention of a wealthy patron of music who, after learning the manner of youth he was,

THE OPERA HOUSE

"The Christian" as presented by the Thompson-Flynn stock company at the opera house this week is proving one of the best performances so far given by this company, a play of strong dramatic interest, acted by a capable and well balanced company and staged with a lavish hand and with the same careful attention to detail that has so far marked that of each production given. "The Christian" will be played at two performances today and on Saturday afternoon and evening, but the stock company will give no performance on Friday, as Cyril Scott, in "The Lottery Man" will be seen at the Opera House on that date. Next week the stock company is to be seen in a dramatization of Miriam Michelson's widely read story, "In the Bishop's Carriage," a play in which one of the principal characters is that of "Nance Olden," child of the slums who becomes female "Raffles," a girl with a keen mind and a good heart but one who has the misfortune to have been taught a criminal career from childhood. The play is one of intense interest and full of strong dramatic situations and in the hands of this clever company will be sure of an excellent presentation. The staging of this play will be given the usual careful attention. "In the Bishop's Carriage" will be given all next week except Wednesday. After the matinee today a reception by members of the company will be held on the stage.—Adv.

"THE LOTTERY MAN." Nothing could ingratiate a reporter more in the eyes of the managing editor than a "scoop." Since the first newspaper there has been every kind of "exclusive story" but in the comedy of "The Lottery Man," a new comedy by Rida Johnson Young, which the Shuberts will present at the Opera House next Friday, March 31, with Cyril Scott as the star, use is made of perhaps one of the most novel "beats" ever found in the columns of the press.

The central figure in "The Lottery Man" is Jack Wright, a newsgatherer, played by Mr. Scott. He is a warm friend of Foxy Payton, who owns the paper, and when he gets Wall street tip, Wright goes to his chief for money, promising as security, in the event of failure, his pledge to turn into the paper one of the biggest stories New York has ever known. As the tip falls, Wright is compelled to make good. This he does by offering himself as the prize in a lottery which is to be conducted by the newspaper. Naturally the coupons appeal mostly to women and the campaign among the thousands of contestants waxes warm. Shortly after Jack has offered himself as the human prize, he falls in love with Helen Heyer, which fact causes him to deeply regret his entry into such a foolish scheme.

An unexpected turn of affairs takes place when the lucky coupon is won by the old maid companion to Mrs. Payton. The maiden lady being very much, as she thinks, in need of a husband, eagerly holds on to the lucky number, only giving it up under the most extraordinary circumstances.

This in main is the thread of the delightful story that Rida Johnson Young—author of "Brown of Harvard," "The Way"—has woven in "The Lottery Man," which after its long run at the Bijou theatre, New York, comes here with the original cast, including Helen Lowell, Janet Beecher, Louise Galloway, Ethel Winthrop, Mary Leslie Mayo, Robert MacKay and others.—Adv.

"MADAME X."

The company which will present "Madame X" at the Opera House on Wednesday, April 5th, is the original one and comes here direct from the remarkable run of one hundred performances at the Majestic Theatre, Boston. It includes Dorothy Donnelly, who through her impersonation of the crus-drenched heroine has been declared by critics to be the most wonderful emotional actress of the day. The magazines and illustrated journals have for two years vied with one another in lauding her performance and in publishing every varying phase of the emotion she depicts. She is supported by Malcolm Williams, Robert Paton Gibbs, Harry C. Bradley, W. H. Denby, Maurice Drew, Ralph Morgan, Boyd Nolan, John McKee, Charles H. Henderson, Frank T. Buell, Cecil Keene and Burnett Radcliffe. In the court-room scene which occupies three-quarters of an hour an exact reproduction is given of a murder trial before a French Assize court. An ensemble of one hundred people is employed in this act.

The sale of seats opens at 9 a.m. tomorrow and the management announces that the rule of no more than ten seals to one person will be strictly enforced and also that telephone orders for this attraction will be suspended.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The fame of the Donald Meek stock company in James A. Herne's celebrated play dealing with New England life has gone throughout the city, spread by well satisfied attendants of the early performances and as a result the advance sales for the concluding performances is unusually large, which may be taken by those who have not seen the play as a tip to order their seats without delay. The capacity of the theatre is limited and no favors are played at the box office, the rule being first come, first served. Mr. Herne's plays have all been characterized by a strikingly close adherence to life in the matter of plot, dialogue and costuming, and a strict regard to detail, realism being the theme uppermost in the playwright's mind. "Shore Acres" is considered Mr. Herne's best play and therefore it follows that "Shore Acres" must excel in the above-mentioned features, and it does. Mr. Meek whose rule is to present the original without curtain, has spared no pains nor expense in producing "Shore Acres" as Herne produced it, and he has been eminently successful as the repeated curtain calls at each performance will testify. In the character of "Nathaniel Berry," the part created by James A. Herne himself, Mr. Meek has given an interpretation of the exciting part that has surprised even his most sanguine admirers and has assured his success in that peculiar line of dramatic art did he ever choose to assume it permanently. A native born Pine Tree state could not improve upon him. It seems hard to believe that this character is one of many of varied nature that he assumes from week to week with very little study or preparation. The cleverness of his work in this character is enhanced by the excellent support given him by the company, particularly by Miss Estelle, Arnold and Miss Allen, who have the most prominent parts in the play.

Severely DeDoin will be back in the next week and will assume the title role in "Strength," Robert Edeson's great success. Mr. DeDoin has played the part before and is thoroughly familiar with it. Mr. Meek will play "Billy," the great comedy part in the play, while Miss Estelle is cast in a congenial role. The play will be elaborately staged.—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today is Biograph day at the Theatre Voyons and on the bill will be two laughable "biograph" comedies, one "Priscilla's April Fool Joke," a most timely and pleasing comedy and the second "Cured," a laughable bit of burlesque burlesque comedy. A pleasing dramatic feature will be "The Disruptive Mr. Reagan," a story true to life and with several strong climaxes. Jack Manchester, Lowell's favorite tenor, will feature "Down on the Old Ohio," the first product of the newly organized Lowell music house, The Study Publishing Company.—Adv.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Today is Thursday and that means an entire change of program both in vaudeville acts and pictures. The new acts will include the Geers, sensational European acrobats; also Dow and Dow, singers and dancers. The feature act on the bill will be given by Charles Lee, Calder & Co. They will appear in a comedy playlet. Three reels of the latest comedy and dramatic pictures will also be shown.—Adv.

LIQUOR LICENSES

the present time two licenses have been applied for, but each in a separate and distinct premise.

In such cases it was necessary for the applicant to file with the board of police a drawing showing the separation of the premises.

Last year there were but 24 licenses granted but this year there will be 108, an increase of 12 as a result of the increase in population according to the recent United States census.

It is expected that next week the commissioners will make a tour of inspection of the different places where applications have been made. The applications will have to be advertised for ten days and any time after that they may be granted.

The following is the list of applications:

CAUSE OF WRECK

Explained by Crew of the Glencoe

LOUISBURG, N. S., March 30.—Explanation of the sinking of the Gloucester fishing schooner Colonial off Misery point, New Newfoundland, came yesterday, when 16 sailors of the Colonial's crew arrived from Port Au Basque on the steamer Glencoe. The sailors stated that, owing to the scarcity of fish on the Grand Banks, Captain Upshell of the Colonial decided to operate off Burge, N. F. On the night of March 20th, they had barely anchored in the harbor when a violent gale sprang up which drove the schooner ashore a half hour later. The Colonial did not tilt and every effort was made to float her. The work of the crew failed to stop the leaks and at five o'clock the schooner slipped off the rocks and sank in ten fathoms of water. The crew took to the dories and landed safely with nearly all of their personal effects.

The 16 sailors have taken passage on the collier Ocean, which has sailed for Boston. Captain Upshell and a single sailor remained at the scene of the wreck.

MAY CLOSE STATION

CAMBRIDGE, March 20.—In his annual report of the Harvard Astronomical observatory, Prof. Pickering, the director of the observatory, states that the deficit has increased to such proportions that the station at Arequipa, Peru, will have to be closed.

The report says:

"The most natural remedy seems to be the closing of the station in Arequipa. It is to be hoped that only a partial abandonment of work there will be necessary. The deficit cannot be met by small economies at Cambridge."

"BLACK HAND" BOMB

Exploded Within Rod of Where Officer Was Standing

NEW YORK, March 30.—A "black hand" bomb was exploded early today almost beneath the coat-tails of a New York policeman. The bluecoat, making his regular nightly rounds, was standing at the doorway of a tenement house on First avenue and the bomb was in the cellarway of the building, not a rod from his feet. He was uninjured, although the front of the building was damaged and doors and windows blown in. The tenants, 20 families in all, made a wild rush for the street but were quelled by the policeman who had regained his equilibrium and composure by the time they came streaming down the stairs.

The bomb, apparently deposited in the cellarway early in the night with a time-fuse, was aimed at the wine shop of Anthony Valenza on the ground floor. He admitted that he had recently received threatening letters.

DEATHS

BLOOD—Alfred Blood, child of Norman and Julia, died this morning at the home of the parents, 5 Farnham street, aged one months and 21 days.

FUNERALS

BROWN—On yesterday, Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, was held the funeral of George B. Brown of Dracut. The service was conducted by Rev. B. A. Willmott, pastor of the First Congregational church, Lowell, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by Rev. F. E. Carver, in charge of the Collingsville Union mission, in which Mr. Brown has been a most active and efficient worker since its earliest days. After the impressive prayer service at the home, 2191 Lakeview avenue, a large number of friends gathered at the Mission chapel to pay a last tribute to one whose earnestness of life and purpose had won the deepest confidence and respect. The floral offerings from relatives and friends were numerous and beautiful. The bearers were the four nephews, sons of the late R. E. Brown of Lexington. Appropriate musical selections were given by Mr. Frank Murphy and Mrs. Stella Wilson. The burial was at Oakdale cemetery, Dracut, in charge of Undertaker C. M. Young.

GALLAGHER—The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Gallagher took place from her late home, 81 Rumels place, this morning at 8:45 o'clock. The cortage proceeded to St. Peter's church, where Rev. J. Sullivan read the prayers at the grave. The bearers were Michael Connors, Michael Horan, John Graham and James Burns. Among the floral offerings were a large wreath on base inscribed "Mother" from Mr. and Mrs. John Tansey and family; a large pillow inscribed "Grandmother" from the Crowley children, C. H. Molloy and Sons, undertakers in charge.

BOYLE—The funeral of the late John J. Boyle took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Patrick Regan, 282 Fayette street and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends, also the following delegations from societies of which deceased was an esteemed member, James F. Griffin, Joseph Puccelli, William E. Reed and Bernard J. McGuire from the local Aerie of Eagles; John J. Quirk, Louis Charzon, Daniel J. Burke and Michael J. Casserly, representing the Bartenders' union. At nine o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Owen McQuade, O. M. I. The choral under the direction of Miss Lulu Gliny sang the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Mr. Edward F. Sheehan and Mrs. Cox. There were many beautiful floral tributes including a large pillow inscribed "Papa," from the children; standing cross, Bartenders' union; pillow, from Lowell Aerie, 223 Fraternal Order of Eagles, and large spray from Miss Mamie Dugnan. The bearers were Thomas Kivel, Patrick Meehan, Thomas Marren, Martin Tivian, Peter Bourke and Thomas H. Daley, the two latter representing the Emmets. At the grave Rev. Fr. McQuade, O. M. I., read the committal prayers. Burial was in the St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

HIS THROAT CUT

Body of Man Found in Gutter

WOXBURN, March 30.—The body of John Richardson, an aged resident of Woburn, was found early today lying in the gutter in front of the house at 24 Davis street, where he lived with his daughter. The throat was cut and nearby was a bloodstained razor. The medical examiner said that Mr. Richardson had committed suicide. He was 70 years of age and for several months had been suffering from melancholia, believed to have been due to ill health.

TRAIN HELD UP

Robbers Got Away With $40,000

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—Robbers held up a train at Wldson, a small station on the the Warsaw and Granite line, last night and secured $40,000 which was to have been used for the payment of railroad employees. Two passengers were wounded by the robbers, who escaped.

SUGAR CANE

TO BE USED IN MANUFACTURE OF PAPER

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Another substance from which paper may be made has been discovered by a manager of a sugar estate situated in Trinidad, according to Consul Hale, at that place. The new substance is around sugar cane, to which is added bamboo fibre. The mingling of these two, the discoverer believes, produces a substance of which the fibre is of the right nature to make a cheap and excellent paper. He has made paper by this process without the use of any chemicals.

The quality of the paper, according to the report, can command the market against any wood paper now being manufactured.

Lands and Buildings Committee
Saw Demonstration of Them

Fire Department Committee Inspected Fire Houses and Apparatus—Committee on Appropriations to Meet Tonight—State Inspector to Talk on Moth Extermination

The committee on lands and buildings met at city hall at 9 o'clock this forenoon and went to the Bartlett school to see a number of bubbling fountains in operation there. It was the first practical demonstration of bubble fountains to be given in this city and the committee arranged to get to the school at recess time to see the children use the fountains and to observe which of the fountains the children could tamper with the least.

Fire Department Committee
The committee on fire department met at city hall at 1 o'clock this afternoon and started in on a series of views covering the entire first district in this city. The committee went out in autos.

Committee on Streets
The committee on streets met at 2 o'clock and went out later to view a number of places mentioned in petitions for street improvements. The committee has a raft of petitions to consider and the most important ones will be the first to receive attention.

LAID AT REST THE CORAM HOME

Remains of Michael McGlone Brought Here

A large number of well known residents of Lowell and Billerica attended the funeral of the late Michael McGlone, a former well known resident of North Billerica, which took place this morning from his late home, 18 Funks street, Cambridge. The remains were taken to St. Paul's church, where at 9 o'clock high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John Buckley. The choir under the direction of Mr. George McConnel, who also presided at the organ, rendered the Gregorian chant. After the elevation Leybach's beautiful "Pio Jesus" was rendered by Mrs. Hugh Walker, soprano soloist at the Immaculate Conception church, this city, and a relative of the deceased. The bearers were Messrs. Charles P. Smith, Martin H. Reidy, Michael J. Reidy of this city, and Chief of Police Martin Conway of North Billerica, all relatives of the deceased. The remains were then conveyed to Lowell on the 12:47 train and the interment took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the prayers at the grave were read by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I. of the Sacred Heart church. The interment was in charge of J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

LOSS IS $200,000

ALEXANDRIA, La., March 30.—A $200,000 fire practically wiped out the business section of Pollock, La., last night. Twenty-eight buildings, including two hotels, several stores and residences, were destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

INVESTIGATION OF VICE CHARGES

NEW YORK, March 30.—The grand jury began an investigation today into the charges brought by Magistrate Corrigan that vice and crime are rampant in the city. Frank Moss, first assistant district attorney, and George Gordon Battle, as special assistant, have charge for the city. Commissioner Cropsey, head of the police department, was the first witness called. He was examined with reference to the physical condition of the force, its state of discipline, his methods of administration and the difficulties that surround his task. Before the investigation runs its course it is probable that all the deputy commissioners and many inspectors and captains will also be called to testify.

JUNK DEALERS ARRESTED

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 30.—Detectives of the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co. have succeeded in running down a number of junk dealers who purchased stolen company property from boys. This property consisted of safety appliances for passenger and freight trains.

As a result of the thefts the company was heavily fined in the federal courts for violating the rules of the inter-state commerce commission in not having the safety appliances on cars. The company officials began a thorough investigation and the arrest of a number of junk dealers and boys in this city followed.

FIREMEN FIGHTING FLAMES AT CAPITOL AT ALBANY

To Repair Damage Caused by Fire in Albany

ALBANY, N. Y., March 30.—The work of rehabilitating the fire-swept state capitol, begun yesterday while the flames were still crackling in the western wing, was continued today with increased vigor. First efforts were directed to drying out the portions of the great building untouched by the fire but thoroughly soaked by the tons of water poured on the conflagration. Today the legislative leaders were expected to confer with Governor Dix and State Architect Ward, regarding an appropriation necessary to repair the building. The architect has recommended that the legislature authorize immediately the preparation of plans for rebuilding the ruined third and fourth floors in the west end. This work will include the replanning of the interior to meet the demands of offices that will occupy the quarters from which the fire drove the education department. For this department building is in course of construction. Unofficial estimates place the cost of reconstruction close to $1,000,000. It is said that an appropriation of this size would practically wipe out the estimated surplus remaining in the state treasury at the end of the present fiscal year. The state cannot bend itself for this rebuilding and the money must be taken directly from the treasury. At present the whole building, except the offices on the east front, is as damp as an underground cell. A large part of the paper maché ceiling in the assembly chamber will have to be replaced.

Before they can be used again, the members' desks will have to be refinished and it may be necessary to purchase a new outfit of interior assembly-room furnishings.

The first inspection after the smoke cleared away convinced the state architect that the remaining walls of the southwestern cupola were unsafe, and the occupants of houses on the opposite side of State street have been directed to vacate until the walls are pulled down or shored safely in place.

Present indications are that there will be no investigation of the cause of the fire.

Other reforms besides improved electrical wiring, suggested in connection with the rehabilitation of the building, are a supply of chemical extinguishers in all offices and corridors and the removal of inflammable records which have accumulated in other parts of the structure almost as heavily as books and pamphlets piled on the wooden shelves of the ruined state library. The men who discovered the fire yesterday morning say that they could have put it out easily if they could have found an extinguisher or even a few pails of water.

Spring Medicine

There is no other season when medicine is so much needed as in the spring. The blood is impure and impoverished—a condition indicated by blimples, boils and other eruptions on the face and body, by deficient vitality, loss of appetite, lack of strength.

The best spring medicine, according to the experience and testimony of thousands annually, is

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It purifies and enriches the blood, cures eruptions, builds up the system.

Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs.

STOOD ORDEAL WELL

Informer Cross-Examined at the Trial of the Camorrist

VITERBO, Italy, March 30.—Gennaro Abbatenaggio, the Informer, was cross-examined at today's sitting of the court of the assizes which is trying the 25 camorrista for the murder of their associates, Gennaro Cuocolo and his wife.

Most of the questions asked by President Bianchi and the lawyers for the defense concerned matters of secondary importance and were intended to impugn the Informer. The latter stood the ordeal very well, making many admissions concerning his own evil career, but clinging tenaciously to the story of camorrista crimes which he originally told to the police Inspector, Marshal Cappellini, and later submitted in the form of an affidavit to the court.

Lawyer Torre, of counsel for the defense, today received an anonymous letter in which the writer attempted to prove that which has before been asserted by the other prisoners that the carabinieri who ran down the camorrista had manufactured the Cuocolo ring evidence. According to the police, the ring had been taken from the hand of Cuocolo to be sent to Luigi Arena, in proof of the death of the man whom Arena had denounced as a traitor to the camorra. The carabinieri swore that they found this ring at the home of a woman companion of the assassins.

As proof that this evidence was fabricated, the writer of the letter states that Littilio, a carabinieri, being offended, boxed the ears of his superior officer, whereupon, instead of being court-martialed, he was sent to a hospital, as he had threatened that if he were punished he would reveal the duplicity of the officers of the carabinieri. Subsequently, the letter states, Littilio was declared insane and removed from the army.

FANCY DANCING

Reception Given by Miss Ockington

A pleasant time was enjoyed in Asbsolute hall last evening by the large number of guests who attend the reception given by Miss Ockington. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion while the stage was covered with palms and ferns.

The program consisted of fancy and general dancing by the pupils till the intermission, which was followed by general dancing by the guests. The fancy dances were extremely delightful, and naturally the feature of the evening.

The march was led by Master Theodore Currier, Miss Eleanor Midwood, Master Allan Adams and Miss Isabel Whitman, with charming grace and aplomb. The first special dance on the program was a minuet, danced by wendmous in Watteau shepherdess dress and tiny courtiers in knee breeches and powdered wig. The little dancers of the minuet were:

Master Ainsworth Isherwood, Miss Freda Atkinson, Master Leon Pickard, Miss Eveleigh Atkinson, Master Mor-

Girl Begins Fight to Secure His Release From Asylum

NEW YORK, March 30.—Separated by the walls of an insane asylum, two sweethearts are fighting a pathetic, determined battle of love at Poughkeepsie.

The girl, Miss Carrie E. Billman, of Brookline, Mass., is fighting from the outside. The man, Frederick W. Savage, an inventor of Boston, is fighting from within. He is confined in the Hudson River State hospital. Miss Billman declares that he is being kept there through powerful financial interests in Boston, which want him out of the way.

The plucky girl is conducting her battle single-handed. Up to a week ago, she says, Mr. Savage's parents were with her, but now they have become convinced, through covert misrepresentation, she declares, that she is employed by the people who want Savage held in the asylum and is really working to keep him there.

Miss Billman and Mr. Savage met for the first time a year ago at a gathering of the new thought organization in Boston. Both were interested in the cult and this interest drew them together.

A few months ago they became engaged. On January 21 Mr. Savage was taken into custody in his office and after being examined by two physicians, was committed to the Boston

State hospital. But as he was a native of Racineville, N. Y., he was transferred to the Poughkeepsie institution.

Two weeks ago Miss Billman arrived in Poughkeepsie and engaged Attorney George Wood to conduct her case. She visited her fiance in the hospital, and together they planned the struggle for his release.

But a week ago Miss Billman, on arriving at the hospital, was informed that she could not see her fiance because his parents had objected. She says she has learned that they received information from some unknown source to the effect that she was insincere in her efforts to free the man she loves.

Nevertheless she is going right ahead. Yesterday Judge Hasbrouck, in the county court, issued a writ of habeas corpus directing Dr. Charles W. Gilpin, superintendent of the hospital, to produce Mr. Savage in court on April 10.

Miss Billman says that Mr. Savage, for a good many years old business with a rubber manufacturing concern in Boston, which finally obtained control of his patents for making rubber boots. They broke off their business relations, she says, and then the company wished to get Savage out of the way.

Miss Billman is a student in the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

WATCH RETURNED RAYMOND FOYE

It Was Lost Seven Years Ago

Quits the St. Anselm's College Team

MANCHESTER, N. H., March 30.—Raymond Foye, captain of the St. Anselm's college baseball team, which is receiving instructions from the veteran player and manager, John F. Smith, last evening, after a disagreement with the athletic authorities, quit college and left for his home in Lowell, Mass.

It is said that the athletic authorities desired to have Capt. Foye play behind the bat, which he objected to and insisted on playing first base which was the position he held last season under Capt. Timothy Whalen. Last season Capt. Foye's brother, Arthur, did the backstop work, but failed to return to college in the fall. Capt. Foye is a capable catcher, first baseman and batsman, and fields in a superior manner.

PLOT OF GROUND

FOR A MEMORIAL TO MASSACHUSETTS SOLDIERS

SPRINGFIELD, March 30.—Fifty years after the opening of the great struggle between south and north, the members of the A. P. Hill camp of Confederate veterans of Petersburg, Va., has given to Massachusetts, the state which first bitterly opposed secession, a plot of ground near the city for the erection of a monument to the Massachusetts soldiers who fell in front of Petersburg. A. P. Hill camp was entertained in Springfield last summer by E. K. Wilcox post, Grand Army of the Republic.

The site for the memorial belonged to Crater farm and is about 60 feet square, situated at the corner of the Jerusalem road and Crater lane and about 300 yards from the farm itself.

ROPE SKIPPING

COST NEW YORK GIRL HER LIFE

NEW YORK, March 30.—Her title as "champion rope skipper" of public school No. 147, in Williamsburg, cost 8-year-old Mary Tamplin her life after she had demonstrated her right to that distinction by skipping a rope 700 times in a contest with several schoolmates near her home, at number 92 Reubing street, Williamsburg.

"Dilatation of the heart due to rope skipping," was the official diagnosis of the cause of her death as rendered by Dr. Charles Wuest, the coroner's physician, who made an autopsy on the little girl's body after her death ensued despite the desperate efforts of her mother to save the child's life.

Mrs. Tamplin said she had often warned the girl against excessive rope jumping.

SMOKE CLEAN CIGARS

Cuban tobacco is all right—best in the world. But how about Cuban cigar factories? Wouldn't you prefer cigars made of the SAME Cuban tobacco—but made in a light, airy, germ-proof American factory? The 3-20-8 Cigar gives you the delicious flavor of Cuban tobacco improved by the cleanliness of American factory methods. Besides, they save you money.

In two weeks more Spalding park will awake from its winter's sleep and will swarm with ball players, judging from the large try-out roster on hand, and if Manager Gray doesn't get a good team it will not be because he didn't look around for players during the winter.

While some of the positions are in doubt, there is at least no question about Lowell's outfield. Frank Shannon, former captain of the Lowell team, who is in town for a few days, said last night: "I think Lowell, with George Barrows and Haverhill in the outfield will have the strongest outfield in the league this year."

Walter Foye goes back to New London next week to play with Jack Burns' New London team in the Connecticut League. Walter has developed finely and may be seen in faster company before the season closes.

Harry Aubrey of the Syracuse team has signed with Haverhill and the fans of that city are duly elated.

The Haverhill grounds are being improved for the opening of the season and President Clohecy stated that while the papers along the circuit are hammering Haverhill as a lemon, he will show them their mistake.

A SUDDEN END

To Case Against Mining Company

CONCORD, March 30.—The trial of the promoters of the Oxford Gold Mining company was continued yesterday morning in the United States district court and came to a sudden termination at the opening of the afternoon session, shortly after 2 o'clock.

The witness during the morning session had been Inspector Spofford of the postoffice department and this gentleman was preparing to take the stand again this afternoon, when the defendants withdrew the plea of not guilty which had been entered in their behalf, and through their attorneys entered a plea of nolo, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court.

The court ordered that Leo Richard pay a fine of $200; that John A. DeLillo pay a fine of $100; and that Theodosius Boudreau pay a fine of $2000 and be imprisoned for six months in the Hillsborough county jail at Manchester. The first two defendants paid their respective fines and were discharged from the custody of the court. Boudreau was committed.

The prosecution was conducted by United States District Attorney Holt of Nashua. In answer to questions from the postoffice Inspector Mr. Boudreau, one of the prisoners, said that the Oxford company six years ago bought 210 acres of mining land in Houghton, Me., for $1200. This land was sold to the company by Mr. Boudreau and Mr. DeLillo and the company organized with 300,000 shares at a par value of $1. Half of these were taken over by the promoters and the other 150,000 were put on sale to the public.

Mr. Boudreau testified that the company sold 131,774 shares at different prices. The sale started at ten cents a share and 5230 shares were sold. In September, 1905, the price went to twenty cents and 16,748 were sold. In December of the same year the stock rose to twenty-five cents, and later 14,355 went off at fifty cents. Three years ago par was reached and 66,826 were disposed of. In 1908 stock doubled to $2 and 7507 shares were sold. In December of the same year the price went to $3 with a sale of 3000 shares. The trial lasted all day Tuesday until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Judge Aldrich presided.

A number of shares of the Oxford Gold Mining company have been sold in Lowell.

SLATER MILLS HANGED FOR MURDER

Future Dipeends on the Action of Court

Man Joked of Death Up to the Very End

BOSTON, March 30.—The future of the Slater mills at Webster, Mass., now depends on the action of the supreme court, which today heard arguments on exceptions to a decree directing the trustees to sell the mills in accordance with the provisions of the will of Horatio Slater. Mrs. Slater, the widow, according to her counsel, Sherman L. Whipple, wants the business for the benefit of her two sons, so that when they become of age they can engage in manufacturing and keep up the traditions of the Slater name in the industrial world.

SCHOONER IS MISSING

It is Feared That Vessel Has Been Lost

BOSTON, March 30.—Some uneasiness is felt for the Boston schooner J. M. Haynes, which is 30 days out from Brunswick, Ga., to this port, a trip which usually requires from a week to ten days. The Haynes is a staunch three-masted and has always been a good sea boat. She loaded a cargo of yellow pine at Brunswick. The schooner was last reported by Captain Waits of the schooner Willie Child of Thompson, Me., who sighted her off Cape Henry during a northwest gale on March 16. The Haynes appeared to be in good condition at that time but it is possible she was blown into the gulf stream by the gale. The Child left Brunswick March 2 and arrived here Wednesday after a rough passage. The commander of the Haynes is Captain Rickson of Malden, who was commander of the Boston schooner Cox and Green which was abandoned at sea last November. Captain Rickson was accompanied on that voyage by his bride, both sailing on their honeymoon trip

"THE BEST LAID SCHEMES, ETC."

Had the republicans of the common council gone into joint convention after inauguration day, they might have elected both clerk and treasurer. They adopted evasive tactics to their own undoing. The election of Stephen Flynn as city clerk is another reminder of that well known couplet by Burns—

"The best laid schemes o' mice and men
Gang aft a-gley."

THE EASIEST WAY

We do not think that Mr. Walters, the author of "the Easiest Way," the play suppressed by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, has shown by his scurrilous attack on the mayor and the reputation of Boston that the mayor's action was not warranted. On the contrary everyone who reads his communication will agree with Mayor Fitzgerald.

We are of the opinion that The Easiest Way as well as the most sensible for Mr. Walters is to subside so far as Boston is concerned. He cannot overrule the mayor and he cannot put Boston off the map.

THE LORDS MAY SURRENDER

The London Spectator until quite recently has held out for no surrender fight against the veto measure. Now, however, it advises a surrender so that the lords may be able to use whatever power is left under the suspensory veto against the passage of a home rule for Ireland bill. There is also far away hope that in the interim of two years something may occur to split up the ministry and bring the unionists into power. In this respect they will be disappointed as in their other schemes for the whole nation has decided in favor of home rule and the lords in butting it any farther are simply fighting the inevitable.

AN INANE JOURNALISTIC POLICY

We believe in clean journalism, but we do not believe in the negative journalistic virtue that would prevent a newspaper from saying anything that would injure any human being. We believe in denouncing men and measures that are a menace to the public good or to public morals. No healthy newspaper will hold gamblers, crooks and grafters immune from attack by the press on the phrasemal pretext of not saying anything to hurt anybody's feelings. The paper that does not assail men who carry on an illegal or immoral business, or men who set before the youth of the city a bad example, men who rob the city they are paid to serve, is not doing its duty as a public journal and is, therefore, unworthy of support and wholly useless to any progressive community. The live newspaper, in order to promote what is pure and true and good, must denounce the opposites, and that is why no live paper can adopt the inane policy of "saying nothing that will injure any human being."

WE MUST HELP BILLERICA

When ten or twelve thousand people settle in the village of North Billerica, demanding telephones, fire protection, water service and schools, the town will not be able to accommodate them, and they will either have to come to Lowell or else Lowell will have to go out to them by means of annexation.

The establishment of such a large industry in the village will benefit Lowell very largely under any circumstance so that we may as well be prepared to meet the problem as best we can. There is plenty of land along the west side of the Concord, between Lowell and Billerica suitable for factory sites, and it is probable that factories will locate there. The chief difficulty to be overcome would be the lack of railroad accommodation on that side of the river. To meet this a new bridge will be a necessity in the near future and would certainly be a great benefit to the people of South Lowell.

The new industry will gradually help to work out the means of supplying the needs of its employees; but the elements of fire protection and the other accommodations mentioned can be provided only by a city. Had the industry grown from small dimensions, the town could take care of it, but for a small town the proposition to provide promptly for twice its own population is one which it cannot meet without assistance. Lowell will have to assist Billerica, and by cooperation with the town the difficulty can be easily handled.

HOW TO LIVE A HUNDRED YEARS

The problem of how to live a hundred years has been solved by Dr. Lorand of Hungary. His prescription is quite sensible, and so far as can be judged it is as nearly right as any human being can make it. It is as follows:

"Get born right. Having nothing unfavorable in your ancestry. Avoid an unhappy marriage. Wear loose collars. Eat little meat. Drink milk freely. Exercise as much as possible in the open air. Breathe deeply and regularly. Bathe daily. Wear porous clothing. Go to bed early and get up early. Sleep not more than seven and a half hours in a very dark room with an open window. Rest one whole day each week, without reading or writing. Avoid all worry. Be temperate in the use of coffee, tea and alcohol."

That phrase "Get Born Right" is a very important consideration and one over which we have unfortunately no control. It is a fact that many children have to bear the burden of ills hoarded up by their ancestry and come into the world physical bankrupts as it were. Where the parents are physical or nervous wrecks, it cannot be expected that the children will be physically and mentally strong. It is plain, therefore, that upon the character, the mental and physical qualities of the present generation depends largely whether the future generation will have many centenarians. If a man's nervous capital has been wasted by his parents, he cannot expect to live to a very old age. In other words he is handicapped in his ancestry, as Dr. Lorand wisely remarks.

SEEN AND HEARD

Yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock a bulletin at the Sun office announced the appointment of Henry F. Carr as a member of the park commission and an hour later Mr. Carr had a couple of visitors at his place of business looking for a job.

It is not so much—
What you think, as what you say.
What you earn, as what you save.
What you say, as how you say it.
What you want, as what you need.
What you believe, as what you do.
What you give, as how you give it.
What you work, as how it is done.
What you possess, as how you use it.
What you learn, as what you remember.

"Whenever the course of true love begins to run smooth," said Wilton Lackaye, "the devil is sure to come along and dupe a few rocks in the road." There was the case of Miss Casey and my friend Graham.

"I'll bet you don't know what day tomorrow is," she announced suddenly one evening.

"Why, Tuesday, of course," he answered in a puzzled tone.

"Oh, I don't mean that kind of a day. I knew you didn't know."

"I don't know what you mean?" he replied helplessly.

"Well, I guess I'll have to tell you. She pretended she was hurt. 'It will be my birthday.'

"Congratulations, Alice, congratulations," he exclaimed enthusiastically. "And how old may—"

"That's for you to find out," she answered laughing.

"Well, I bet I know."

"You do?"

"Yes, and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll send you a rose for every year of your life. How will that do?"

"At the florist's he found the assistant unoccupied. 'Send Miss Casey eighteen of your best roses tomorrow morning. You know the address. Eighteen. Your best. Understand?'

"The boy understood. Half an hour later the proprietor was looking over the order book.

"Eighteen roses, sir," answered Wilton.

"Eighteen? He's a pretty good customer. Throw in a dozen more."

Monster Funeral Procession is Planned in New York

NEW YORK, March 30.—Arrangements for a funeral demonstration in which 150,000 sympathizers will be asked to join, the identification of four more bodies, leaving only 16 now unnamed, the swelling of the relief fund to nearly $50,000 and the continued effort by the district attorney's office and the fire marshal to fix the blame, were yesterday's activities which followed Saturday's fire horror.

It is proposed to draw the bodies of most of the 143 victims through the streets of the city on Monday in a great funeral procession headed by a chorus of 70 singers from the Jewish choristers' union, followed by the 600 surviving employees of the Triangle waist company and as many sympathizing workers as can be induced to join.

The United cloak makers' union has asked that all its 70,000 members march in the procession, and according to the proposal made to the police today a line of 150,000 can easily be formed if the authorities will permit Jewish victims will be buried in Mt. Sinai cemetery, the few Italians and others elsewhere.

Thirty women were removed late last night from a memorial mass meeting for the victims of the Washington place fire in Grand Central palace, suffering from hysteria to such extent that ambulance surgeons were called to attend them and to remove some to the hospital. More than 3000 persons were at the meeting, mostly women whose nerves were unstrung by the recital which some of the speakers made of Saturday's fire horror. The meeting was under direction of the shirtwaist and dressmakers' union.

Twenty-five survivors told their stories of the catastrophe to assistants in the district attorney's office today and the others appeared before Fire

Marshal William L. Beers.

A number of employees testified at the district attorney's office to the heroism of Fannie Langner, who hurried scores of girls from the eighth floor to the elevator and superintended crowding them into the car. Again and again she went into the smoke-filled cutting rooms and brought out girls. Finally she fell exhausted and perished.

Louis Senderman, an assistant shipping clerk of the Triangle waist company, testified that when the alarm was given he ran to one of the standpipes on the eighth floor, un wound the hose and opened the valves. No water flowed, and he realized that he was helpless to check the flames. Not only was there no water in the standpipes, but the hose was rotten, he testified.

The factory girls who testified yesterday were unanimous in their statements that the exit doors were not locked, but opened inward.

AVIATION RACE

BIG EVENT WILL HAVE TO BE ABANDONED

BERLIN, March 30.—The projected international aviation race between Paris, Berlin and London will be abandoned owing to the altitude of the Paris Journal, one of the papers contributing to the prizes, yielding to the French agitation against flights in Germany. The Berliner Flieger Zeitung will apply the $25,000, which it offered for the event, to another contest.

For State Highway in Lakeview Avenue

Town Also Votes Money for Lakeview Avenue, Mammoth Road and General Road Work—Representative Stevens Secured Additional Appropriation

Representative Stevens, of Dracut, under the small towns act, has secured an additional appropriation for the completion of the state highway on Lakeview avenue in Dracut. Last year he secured a similar amount from the highway commission for the same purpose.

The selectmen of Dracut have appeared with Rep. Stevens before the highway commission twice this year in behalf of the additional appropriation which finally has been awarded.

There are many people who up to this time were not aware of the fact that any part of Lakeview avenue was a state highway but it appears that last year's appropriation was used to put in a stretch of state highway from the city line in Lakeview avenue near the Fels residence to Pleasant street, and it is probably the intention to continue the work from Pleasant street.

At the recent town meeting it was voted to appropriate $2000 for the continuation of this work on condition that the state would appropriate a similar amount.

The state highway commission having made good, the total appropriation will be $4000. Lakeview avenue is a bad stretch of road in that vicinity and the improvement will be generally appreciated.

Another petition was filed by Representative George H. Stevens and others, asking the county commissioners to alter and improve the Mammoth road between the Lowell and Pelham lines. Should the commissioners consent to do a portion of the work on the Mammoth road this year as did the state highway commissioners in making an allotment for the work in Lakeview avenue, the movement for the establishing of good roads locally will have

Boston Health Commissioners Determined to Make Prosecutions

BOSTON, March 30.—As a result of investigation by the health commissioners, the prosecution of North End fire traps has commenced. One arrest was made last night and other offenders will be summoned into court today.

The commissioners of the board of health yesterday turned over to Commissioner Everett of the building department data of at least a dozen buildings in the North End visited between 10 o'clock and midnight Tuesday. The commissioners visited about 20 places in all with a view of discovering violations of the lodging-house regulations.

The commissioners found in one place a man, a woman and six children, living in three rooms. In addition to this family there were nine lodgers, making a total of 17 persons living in three rooms.

In another place of five rooms they found 25 persons housed.

In another still they found a woman about 60 years of age, whose husband is at present in the hospital, keeping 11 lodgers in three rooms, a kitchen, a sleeping room and a dark side room, in the last named of which she slept herself.

In these places and in others visited the commissioners found the windows closed and atmosphere stifling. In most cases they found that the lodgers slept with stocking caps pulled over their heads.

After observing conditions as to numbers, the commissioners next threw open the windows and made inspection as to fire escapes. Only in a few instances were any fire exits provided.

The commissioners made note of such cases and yesterday reported them to Commissioner Everett as fire traps.

Commissioner Everett with his limited force of inspectors, two men and both old, will have the North End fire traps looked up at the earliest possible moment. The two additional inspectors authorized by Mayor Fitzgerald for fire escape inspection have not yet been selected because the mayor's authorization has not reached the commissioner officially.

Many of the buildings in which the overcrowded conditions were found are three, four and five stories in height. The health commissioners feel that in these a fire of any magnitude would be accompanied with loss of life.

The health commissioners will put a number of the keepers of these lodging-houses in court charged with violation of the lodging-house regulations.

MAJOR BROWN

INSPECTED COMPANY C AT AR

MORY LAST NIGHT

Major Harry Brown of the inspector general's department of Massachusetts made a thorough inspection of Company C, Sixth regiment at the West ford street armory last night.

Practically every member was present, and the drill proved very satisfactory in all respects. Major Brown seemed well satisfied, not only with the company drill, but also with the company equipment and quarters.

Major Warren E. Sweetser of the first battalion, of which Company C is a member, was present, and he was complimented on the showing made.

Battalion Adjutant George W. Downs was also on deck to receive congratulations.

The commander of the regiment, Col. George H. Ulseth, took in the drill and while he did not have much to say, it was evident to all that the inspection was a source of much satisfaction to him.

The board of selectmen of Billerica met last evening and organized for the year, with the selection of Selectman

TEAM LOOKS GOOD

Textile School Wt.
Have Strong Nine'

Coach D. F. McMahon of the Textile school baseball team states that he is going to have some team this season and he ought to know. He is a player of wide experience and a successful coach with a specialty of turning out heavy hitters.

The season will open April 8, with Rindge Manual Training school, on the local campus. The rest of the schedule is as follows: April 12, Gardner High at Lowell; April 15, Lawrence Academy at Groton; April 19, Boston University at Lowell; April 22, Gardner High at Gardner; April 24, M. I. T. 1913 at Lowell; April 29, St. Anselm at Manchester; May 3, Lawrence Academy at Lowell; May 10, Tufts 2d at Lowell; April 13, Exeter at Exeter.

Joseph B. Thaxter '11, who caught last year, has been elected captain and will go behind the bat. Two other candidates for this position are S. Plaistead '13, who caught on the Volkman school team, and Jack Frost, formerly with the Somerville High. Among the candidates for pitcher, the most likely is Aspinwall '13, who played on the Brown University nine last year. A. J. Dow '12, who played the outfield last year, will try his hand in the box. He is a southpaw and so is Davieau, a likely looking freshman.

Johnson '13, of Beloit college, and Clark '12, of Plymouth, are out for first base. Niven '12, who played in the outfield last year, will probably cover the second bag, although Dalton '12 and Ware '13 are giving him a close run for the position. Ford '11, of Lawrence will most likely be seen at shortstop, as he seems to have the call so far. P. T. Phillips '11 last year's star third-sacker, will again play that position. This corner is sure to be well looked after, as he has no superior on any of the Eastern college teams.

There is a large amount of outfield material to draw in Jefferson '11, a veteran of two years; Cleary '13, a star who played on the Boston English High team; Waterhouse '13, of Providence; Mills '13, of Georgia; Bonett '13, of Hartford; Peck '13, of New Haven; Shedd '13 of Malden; O'Brien '13, of Boston, and Batcheller '13, of Worcester.

Money deposited this week in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest Saturday.

IN THE CHURCHES

Two weeks ago the pastor of the First Baptist church had slips distributed to the members of the congregation that they might write thereon what they considered the greatest temptation threatening the welfare of young men of the present day.

The temptations regarded by the majority as the greatest dangers were selected by Mr. Cummings as topics for a series of sermons entitled "Pitfalls in the Lives of Young Men of Lowell." Mr. Cummings stated on Sunday that enough subjects had been handed in to keep the minister's pen busy for a year's sermons. It may be interesting to know the list of subjects. "Intemperance and the Saloon," led by a large majority. There were many other "pitfalls" suggested which were of value to a minister in his effort to deal with the actual problems facing some of his hearers.

Worthen Street Church

The members of the Enworth league of the Worthen Street M. B. church surprised their pastor, Rev. J. W. Stephen at his home last night and presented him a handsome watch chain and chalice; also a gold piece. Mr. Harry Law made the presentation speech to which Mr. Stephen responded. Refreshments were served and a delightful time was enjoyed.

First Baptist Church

The concern which was so successfully given by the young people of the First Baptist church on March 3, was repeated in the vestry last night before a large and appreciative audience. Mr. John C. McElveen had general charge and the educational manager in which it was carried out reflected creditably on the director.

Those who contributed to the evening's entertainment were: Mrs. E. Thompson, songs; Mr. Horathus Legat, songs; Mr. William Curr, whistling; Miss Ethel Trueworthy, readings; and Mr. McElveen, songs.

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

JOHN J. QUIGLEY

Will Appear at Merrimack Square Sunday

Just as a compliment to his old friend Manager Carroll of the Merrimack Square theatre, Johnnie Quigley, once known as America's Newsboy tenor but now head of the John J. Quigley big booking agency, will come to Lowell next Sunday and appear at all the performances at the Merrimack Square theatre in a budget of songs and repeat his success of a few years ago.

Years ago, not many but some, Johnnie Quigley was a newsboy. In South Boston and newsboy in South Boston in those days were some kids. Johnnie could sing from the time he was able to fall out of a cradle and from his earliest years, he had a love for music and an innate knowledge of it. When he attended school his voice always attracted the attention of his teachers and he did all the solo-stunts, to the envy of the other kids. Among the newsboys he was regarded as a "big hit" for when the bunch were broke Johnnie would be sent into some public place to tear at a song while the bunch would pass the hats and all would divide. On Sundays the bunch having held out the price of steamboat tickets to Nantasket would take an early boat to the beach and get into the water. The crowd was thick and would sing a program of songs always with Johnnie as the lead singer and the other newsboys came in on these gain occasions. By working hard and saving his pennies after contributing his share toward the support of his family young Quigley was able to take lessons for a time working during the day and playing up an odd dollar at the different concerts. While singing at one of these concerts his sweet voice attracted the attention of a wealthy patron of music who, after learning the manner of youth he was, sent him abroad for two years to study vocal culture and piano. Johnnie went to London and Paris and gave himself up to his studies with the result that he came back with his voice still as sweet as ever and his head filled with culture and technique, and in South Boston, they hailed him as "America's Newsboy Tenor," and the name stayed with him. He became in great demand and sang in all the great cities of the country and subsequently in Paris. His last appearance on any local stage was about five years ago when he sang for a week at the present Hathaway theatre scoring his usual big hit. It was not long after starting forth on the vaudeville stage that Johnnie was able to pay back all his financial indebtedness to his benefactor though he considers his debt of gratitude can never be paid. Some few years ago, tired of life on the road, Mr. Quigley looked into the possibilities of the professional booking agency and started along bumble lines furnishing talent for clubs and societies in and around Boston and at the penal institutions on the holidays often contributing a number or two himself. Lowell people will recall the great Fourth of July celebration held here some years ago under the auspices of Humphrey O'Sullivan. The children's entertainment held on the North common in the afternoon was provided by Mr. Quigley and was a fine one, delighting an audience of several thousand. His success as a booking agent has been tremendous and he now has 45 theatres on his circuit which assures the performer whom he books a season of 45 weeks, which is a long one in vaudeville. Mr. Quigley is the booking agent of the Merrimack Square theatre and is one of his attractions that either have been here or are coming here are Geo. Prinsroe, Gus Williams, Mrs. Tom Diving Girls, Banda Roma, 20 pieces, the Diving Girls, Thermos Arkots, the radium king, and a host of other headliners. It was Mr. Quigley who started the Glendale of this city on their professional career. At the Merrimack Square theatre Sunday Mr. Quigley will sing "When We Were Sweet Sixteen," "The Blind Boy" and "In the Garden of My Heart."

INFLAMMATION AND PAIN

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I was troubled for a long time with inflammation, pains in my side, sick headaches and nervousness. I had taken so many medicines that I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. A friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to health. I have no more pain, my nerves are stronger and I can do my own work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me after everything else had failed, and I recommend it to other suffering women."—Mrs. Wm. SEALS, 605 W. Howard St., Creston, Iowa.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs. Women who suffer from those distressing ills should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

In almost every neighborhood you will find women who have been restored to health by the Pinkham medicines. Inquire among them and see. Many would not dare to publish their cured, but would talk about their cure to another woman.

"THE LOTTERY MAN." Nothing could ingratiate a reporter more in the eyes of the managing editor than a "scoop." Since the first newspaper there has been every kind of "exclusive story" but in the comedy of "The Lottery Man" a new comedy by Rita Johnson Young, which the Shuberts will present at the Opera House next Friday, March 31, with Cyril Scott as the star, use is made of perhaps one of the most novel "beats" ever found in the columns of the press.

The central figure in "The Lottery Man" is Jack Wright, a newspaperman, played by Mr. Scott. He is a warm friend of Foxy Payton, who owns the paper, and when he gets a Wall street tip, Wright goes to his chief for money, promising as security, in the event of failure, his pledge to turn into the paper one of the biggest stories New York has ever known. As the tip fails, Wright is compelled to make good. This he does by offering himself as the prize in a lottery which is to be conducted by the newspaper. Naturally the coupons appeal mostly to women and the campaign among the thousands of contestants waxes warm. Shortly after Jack has offered himself as the human prize, he falls in love with Helen Heyer, which fact causes him to deeply regret his entry into such a foolish scheme.

An unexpected turn of affairs takes place when the lucky coupon is won by the old maid companion to Mrs. Payton. The maiden lady being very much, as she thinks, in need of a husband, eagerly holds on to the lucky number, only giving it up under the most extraordinary circumstances.

This is main the thread of the delightful story that Rita Johnson Young—author of "Brown of Harvard," by the way—has woven in "The Lottery Man," which after its long run at the Bijou Theatre, New York, comes here with the original cast, including Helen Lowell, Janet Beecher, Louise Galloway, Ethel Winthrop, Mary Leslie Mayo, Robert MacKee and others.—Adv.

"MADAME X."

The company which will present "Madame X" at the Opera House on Wednesday, April 5th, is the original one and comes here direct from the remarkable run of one hundred performances at the Majestic Theatre, Boston. It includes Dorothy Donnelly, who through her impersonation of the drug-drenched heroine has been declared by critics to be the most wonderful emotional actress of the day. The magazines and illustrated journals have for two years vied with one another in lauding her performance and in publishing every varying phase of the emotion she depicts. She is supported by Malcolm Williams, Robert Puton Gibbs, Harry C. Bradley, W. H. Denny, Maurice Dray, Ralph Morgan, Boyd Nolan, John McKee, Charles H. Henderson, Frank T. Buck, Cecil Kern and Burnett Radcliffe. In the court-room scene which occupies three-quarters of an hour an exact reproduction is given of a murder trial before a French Assize court. An ensemble of one hundred people is employed in this act.

The sale of seats opens at 9 a. m. tomorrow and the management announces that the rule of no more than ten seats to one person will be strictly enforced and also that telephone orders for this attraction will be suspended.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The fame of the Donald Meek stock company in James A. Herne's celebrated play dealing with New England life has gone throughout the city, spread by well satisfied attendants of the early performances and as a result the advance sale for the concluding performances is unusually large, which may be taken by those who have not seen the play as a tip to order their seats without delay. The capacity of the theatre is limited and no favorites are played at the box office, the rule being first come, first served. Mr. Herne's plays have all been characterized by a strikingly close adherence to life in the matter of plot, dialogue and costuming, and a strict regard to detail, realism being the theme uppermost in the playwright's mind. "Shore Acres" is considered Mr. Herne's best play and therefore it follows that "Shore Acres" must excell in the above-mentioned features, and it does. Mr. Meek whose rule is to present the original without curtain, has spared no pains or expense in producing "Shore Acres," as Herne produced it, and he has been evidently successful in the repeated curtain calls at each performance will testify. In the character of "Nathaniel Berry," the part created by James A. Herne himself, Mr. Meek has given an interpretation of the exacting part that has satisfied even his most sanguine admirers and has assured his success. In that peculiar line of dramatic art did he choose to assume it permanently. A native born Pine Tree student could not improve upon him. It seems hard to believe that this character is only one of many of varied nature that he assumes from week to week, with very little study or preparation. The cleverness of his work in this character is enhanced by the excellent support given him by the company, particularly by Miss Estelle, Mr. Alford and Miss Allen, who have the more prominent parts in the play.

Severely Dreyfus will be back in the east next week and will assume the title role in "Strongheart" Robert Deacon's great success. Mr. Deacon has played the part before and is thoroughly at home. Mr. Meek will play "Billy," the great comedy part in the play, while Miss Estelle is cast in a congenial role. The play will be elaborately staged.—Adv.

TODAY is Biograph day at the Theatre Voynich and on the bill will be two laughable biograph comedies, one "Priscilla's April Fool Joke," a most timely and pleasing comedy and the second "Cured," a laughable bit of burlesque comedy. A pleasing dramatic feature will be "The Disputing Mr. Reagan," a story true to life and with several strong climaxes. Jack Manchester, Lowell's favorite tenor, will feature "Down on the Old Gold," the first product of the newly organized Lowell Music house, The Sturdy Publishing Company.

THE INCOME TAX

Battle is to be Made Here

BOSTON, March 30.—A big battle is looming up in the legislature over the adoption of the income tax amendment which went through the committee on federal relations yesterday by a vote of 7 to 4.

The action of the committee was not unexpected, although the opponents of a federal income tax were working hard to prevent the favorable report of the committee.

The constitutional amendment will go through the house, but in the senate its chances are not looked upon as good.

The real fight over the measure is in the senate, where active work was begun yesterday for the defeat of the amendment.

Massachusetts is likely to be regarded as a strong centre of organized wealth in all parts of the country, because if Massachusetts passes the amendment this year there will be but seven more states to fall in line before the amendment will be part of the federal constitution.

And the example of Massachusetts would be likely to have great weight in other states, because of the fact that so much interest-bearing capital is to be found here.

LIQUOR LICENSES

the present time two licenses have been applied for, but each in a separate and distinct premise.

In such cases it was necessary for the applicant to file with the board of police a drawing showing the separation of the premises.

Last year there were but 94 licenses granted out this year there will be 106, an increase of 12 as a result of the increase in population according to the recent United States census.

It is expected that next week the commissioners will make a tour of inspection of the different places where applications have been made. The applications will have to be advertised for ten days and any time after that they may be granted.

CAUSE OF WRECK

Explained by Crew of the Glencoe

LOUISBURG, N. S., March 30.—Explanation of the sinking of the Gloucester fishing schooner Colonial off Mistery point, New Foundland, came yesterday, when 15 sailors of the Colonial's crew arrived from Port Au Basque on the steamer Glencoe. The sailors stated that, owing to the scarcity of fish on the Grand Banks, Captain Upshell of the Colonial decided to operate off Burgo, N. F. On the night of March 20th, they had barely anchored in the harbor when a violent gale sprang up which drove the schooner ashore a half hour later. The Colonial did not fill and every effort was made to float her. The words of the crew failed to stop the leak, and at five o'clock the schooner slipped off the rocks and sank in ten fathoms of water. The crew took to the boats and landed safely with nearly all of their personal effects.

The 16 sailors have taken passage on the collier Ocean, which has sailed for Boston. Captain Upshell and a single sailor remained at the scene of the wreck.

MAY CLOSE STATION

CAMBRIDGE, March 30.—In his annual report of the Harvard Astronomical observatory, Prof. Pickering, the director of the observatory, states that the deficit has increased to such proportions that the station at Arequipa, Peru, will have to be closed.

The report says:

"The most natural remedy seems to be the closing of the station in Arequipa. It is to be hoped that only a partial abandonment of work there will be necessary. The deficit cannot be met by small economies at Cambridge."
